DRUGGIST.

Scratched 28 Years.

A Scaly, Itching, Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the Cuticura Remedies twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $200 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (Psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time and my suffering was endless, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring-worm, psoriasis etc. I took ... and ... Sarsaparilla over one year and a half but no cure. I went to two or three doctors and no cure. I cannot praise the Cuticura Remedies too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I need of them was three boxes of Cuticura, and three bottles of Cuticura Resolvent, and two cakes of Cuticura Soap.

If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200 00 you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of Psoriasis (picture number two, "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in awhile, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years and it got to be a kind of second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times. Anything more that you want to know write me or any one who reads this may write to me and I will answer it.

TALK ON THE TARIFF.

The South in Contrast With the Prodigal Son.

A SPEECH BY HERMANN OF OREGON

Republicans Trying to Reach an Agreement on an Opposition Bill—A Majority in Favor of Free Sugar

WASHINGTON May 17.—Henderson, of Iowa, presented a conference report on the Cincinnati exposition bill, and it was agreed to.

The house went into committee on the tariff bill

Peters, of Kansas, argued that if it was true, as asserted by gentlemen on the other side, that a protective tariff was robbery, the Mills bill only sectionalized that robbery

Anderson of Illinois antagonized the protective system for having enriched a chosen few, and for having accumulated in the treasury a dangerous surplus, and controverted the position that the revenue basis would result in a reduction of rates of wages to labor

Breckenridge of Arkansas opened his speech with reference to and eulogistic of the president's annual message, and declared that it had met with great popular favor, that the political adversaries of the democratic party had sought some point of attack along the line—the democratic line—and that the chief of the opposing forces who had rushed violently into the fight, had sent a letter, which was practically a letter of resignation, withdrawing entirely from the contest. After brief reference to the proceedings of the ways and means committee, in which he denied that the majority ever refused the right of petition and criticising the minority for having made extravagant statements in regard thereto, he passed to an exhaustive analysis of the provisions of the bill.

Stewart of Vermont spoke against the bill

Cox, of New York, said he would be willing to reduce taxation in almost any way. He would do almost anything to get rid of the surplus, which menaced and paralyzed the industries of the country. The gentlemen on the other side said the Mills bill was a radical measure. He did not see that a 7 per cent. reduction was much of a free trade reduction. Cox referred to Burrows's speech, and especially to that gentleman's peroration, where, like Silas Wegg, he "dropped into poetry." The gentleman, after eloquent language picturing the advancement and progress of the new South, quoted "Hail its coming, tongue and pen," quoting Charles Mackay's corn law rhyme for the incoming of absolute free trade. In conclusion, Cox said that the country had grown from sea to sea, and from gulf to lake, expanding its progress.

A HUMOROUS SPEECH

Mason, of Illinois, then made a lengthy speech against the bill. Mason's speech abounded in humor throughout. In closing he said that of the majority of the committee on ways and means, six out of eight come from states lately in rebellion, and when he went through his district and saw the prosperous manufacturing and business men there, and realized that the gentlemen of the committee had no sympathy and no interest in them, it grieved him to think that the affairs of his district should be in the hands of such men. A few years ago, when the brigadiers got back into congress the prodigal son act worked very well but now it did not fit their case. Said he "You are back in your father's house, because he caught you by the nape of the neck and the seat of your trousers and brought you back. You did not say, 'Father, I have sinned against thee, I am not worthy to be one of thy family, make me a hostler.' That is not the kind of prodigals you are. You come in at the front door, wipe your feet on the carpet and try to drink out of the fire extinguisher. You don't wait for the fatted calf. You put your feet on the table and say, 'What I want is veal.'" [Laughter.]

Mr. Mason closed by saying the sleeping giant, the republican party, would awake and standing in every harbor and port of entry would say to importers of goods, produced by cheap and pauper labor, "thus far and no further," and under the influence of a republican administration the country would have new life and new hopes, and make greater strides in the march of civilization than heretofore had been accomplished in the history of the world.

REMARKS BY HERMANN

Hermann, of Oregon, spoke in opposition the bill, dwelling upon the necessity for coast defenses on the Pacific coast, and pointing out that much of the surplus might profitably be used for that purpose. San Francisco could be pillaged and its great wealth dissipated, as well as that of other places on the Pacific, by means of foreign powers, through lack of protection. He admonished congress to heed the words of the fathers of the republic, who had all declared for protection.

The committee rose, and the house took a recess till evening.

EVENING SESSION

At the evening session Felton of California, expressed himself as opposed to the proposition to place quicksilver on the free list. The industry of quicksilver mining needed the fostering arm of the government. Under the tariff, the people of the country were getting cheaper than commodity than they would if the importation of quicksilver were made free, for the reason that if the industry were wiped out in the United States, the nations of Austria, Italy and Spain would practically have a monopoly.

Speeches were also made by Messrs March of Pennsylvania, Spooner of Rhode Island, Romeis of Ohio, Sawyer of New York, Nichols of North Carolina, and Lane of Illinois. Adjourned.

THE CAUCUS COMMITTEE.

Republicans Trying to Agree on an Opposition Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON May 17.—At the session of the republican caucus committee last night the tariff bill was the subject of engrossing interest. It was the understanding that if the committee was able to come to an agreement upon the proposition made by Mills looking to a vote on the tariff bill and the substitute which he expects the republicans to offer a caucus should be called to formally ratify its action. The conference, however revealed the fact that there was considerable difference among the members, not so much as to Mills's proposition as to the substitute bill to be offered by the republicans for the Mills bill. From the tone of the discussion it appeared that a majority of the members might be brought to favor the inclusion of free sugar in any proposition that might be advanced by them. The sugar bounty idea also has some adherents.

The committee adjourned without issuing a call for a caucus, but the members were instructed to request state delegations to hold conferences and try to agree among themselves upon what they might regard as the best line of action. When this has been done the caucus committee will endeavor to reconcile the various propositions taken by the state delegations and adopt a settled policy in the treatment of the matter.

BOTH SIDES CANVASSING

WASHINGTON May 17.—On both sides of the house the leaders are making a canvass of their party friends upon the proposition to dispense with consideration of the Mills bill by sections and to take a vote on it as a whole at the close of the general debate.

NOT MUCH OF A SACRIFICE

WASHINGTON May 17.—Congressman Pusell of Massachusetts, made a smart speech in the house when he said that notwithstanding the fact that he was a sheep owner he would vote to put wool on the free list. As a part answer, David Harpster, of Ohio, the largest sheep owner in the United States, said to your correspondent "I wonder if the people of the United States believe that Russell is honest when he argued for free wool as a sheep owner. He is a fancy farmer, and only owns fifteen head of imported stock."

INGALLS AND VOORHEES.

Rival Receptions in Full Blast at the Same Time.

WASHINGTON May 17.—Just after the Ingalls-Voorhees episode in the senate the friends and admirers of both senators tendered each a reception and selected to-night for the occasion. The reception to Ingalls brought a large crowd to the club house of the republican league, where speeches were made by Senators Ingalls and Sherman, Representatives Perkins of Kansas and Johnston of Indiana, and Judge Shellabarger. Ingalls, in his speech, criticised the nomination of Mr. Fuller to be chief justice of the United States.

The reception to Senator Voorhees was held at Willard's hall, which was elaborately decorated, and filled to overflowing. The speakers were Senator Voorhees, Representatives Outhwaite, of Ohio; Caruth of Kentucky, and Compton, of Maryland, ex-Gov. Curtin and Commissioners Black, Stockslager and Hall of the pension, land and patent offices respectively. Prolonged applause greeted every mention of President Cleveland's name.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS.

A Number of Bills Passed, Including That for Pensions.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The report of the conference committee on the house bill in regard to the Cincinnati centennial exposition was presented and agreed to.

The pension appropriation bill was then taken up, and after considerable debate and the offering of several amendments, which were defeated, the bill passed without division.

The senate then proceeded to business on the calendar, and passed, among other bills the senate bill to establish a public park in Colorado, to be called Royal Arch park.

The senate then proceeded to executive business.

After the doors were reopened, the senate resumed consideration of the calendar, and passed the following: Senate bill appropriating $200 000 for a public building at San Diego, Cal.

After passing thirty-five bills the senate adjourned till Monday.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

Baptist Educational Society.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Discussion of the constitution of the proposed American Baptist Education Society was resumed by the Baptist convention this morning. After one unimportant amendment had been made the constitution as presented yesterday, was adopted by a nearly unanimous vote. A committee on nomination of permanent officers was then appointed after which the society adjourned, subject to call of the committee.

After discussion of the constitution of the proposed American Baptist Educational Society by the Baptist convention this morning, and after one unimportant amendment had been made, the constitution was adopted.

Immediately on adjournment of the educational convention, the American Baptist Home Mission Society resumed its session. Rev. Dr. Hanson of Illinois, presented a resolution, which was unanimously adopted, earnestly protesting to congress against the threatened repeal of the law forbidding the admission of obscene literature in mails. Anthony Comstock then addressed the society.

An Appeal for Port Orford

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Senator Dolph accompanied by Mr. Tichnor, who is largely interested in the coal and lumber business at Port Orford, called this morning on the chief of engineers to see if they could secure a recommendation for the immediate expenditure of the appropriation heretofore made for a harbor of refuge at that place. They represented to him that the expenditure of money would not only be in line of the proposed harbor of refuge but would be of great local benefit to the harbor at that port. The chief of engineers will take the matter under advisement, and will have an examination of the place, to determine whether he will expend the money or not.

The Subject of Food Adulteration.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—The house committee on agriculture, at a special meeting to-day, referred to a sub-committee the Butterworth-Jardine bill and its various substitutes, looking to taxing all adulterated food products. The sub-committee, which has not as yet been appointed, will have authority to report a bill covering the general subject of food adulteration for submission to the full committee.

THE FLOOD SUFFERERS.

More Fertile Fields Changed to Muddy Seas

AND MORE LEVEES IN DANGER

Refugees Now Pouring into Quincy, Drenched by the Pitiless Downpour of Rain—Relief Measures Placed in Operation

ST LOUIS May 17.—There are now five bad breaks in the bay levee and the whole of the bottoms reaching for miles from opposite Louisiana, Mo., to Hannibal, Mo., is inundated. The flood covers an area fifty miles long and five miles wide. Over 100 000 acres of crops will be injured or destroyed.

ANOTHER DISASTROUS LEVEE BREAK

ST LOUIS, May 17.—Advices from Mississippi river towns above here say that at 4 15 o'clock this morning a break occurred in the bay levee at a point about two miles below the Hannibal bridge, and this was followed at 6 45 o'clock by a larger and more serious one above the bridge. The wildest excitement prevailed in Hannibal and among the few farmers who had stubbornly refused to leave their homes. Two hundred men had been engaged all night in the work of stopping seeps, and placing bags of sand on top of the levee to keep the river back, and attempting to close the breaks, but without success.

The more sensible farmers had removed their stock to the bluffs six miles distant, but some remained until the moment of calamity, and consequently they sustained severe losses. Hogs, cows and horses could be seen swimming on the flood until they came into contact with some obstacle on which their bodies would be mangled.

The smaller houses in the bottom were wrecked. No loss of life is reported yet.

The territory now covered by water is forty five miles long and six miles wide, with 50,000 acres under cultivation. The depth of water is from one to twenty feet. Consequent upon the breaking of the levee the water is receding rapidly.

Tenants state that if the ground gets in favorable condition by the middle of July, they can raise late corn. Their loss is incalculable. The damage to railroad property will be great.

From Keokuk word comes that it was thought the worst was over but very heavy rains set in there this morning and as the Des Moines river is rising rapidly there is no telling what the result will be. The overflow is constantly increasing covering more land every day, and the water is getting deeper.

A vast quantity of water is creeping over the levees one mile north of Alexandria which flows a swift current that sweeps through the town and threatens to carry away a number of houses whose foundations have been weakened. Many families have abandoned their homes.

RELIEF FOR THE DESTITUTE.

QUINCY May 17.—This evening a mass meeting was held to devise means for the immediate relief of destitute sufferers from the flood. For the past two or three days these helpless people have been coming into the city in boats, a single rowboat often containing an entire family, with such household effects as could be quickly gathered together. For ten days it has rained steadily, to add to the suffering from the flood.

At the meeting to-night money was freely subscribed to provide provisions and clothing to be delivered in the morning, north and south of Quincy, in charge of citizens relief committees. These committees will make careful investigations throughout the flooded districts and relieve the immediate wants of the people. A committee was also appointed to solicit aid from citizens generally, and boats will be loaded to be sent to the flooded country.

The water is still steadily rising to-night and the worst of the flood has not yet been reached.

ANOTHER LEVEE GIVES WAY

QUINCY, Ill. May 17.—The upper bay levee gave way near East Hannibal this morning and the destruction of the levee district in this section of Mississippi valley is now complete. Many thousands of acres of the most productive farming lands are covered with from six to 15 feet of water, and the loss from the great flood cannot be estimated. The river has risen six inches since morning and reports from above state that the water is still rising. To-night a largely attended meeting was held to devise means for relief of destitute families along the lowland.

PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Every State in the Union Represented at the Centennial Meeting

PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—The centennial meeting of the Presbyterian general assembly, supreme ecclesiastical court of the Presbyterian church in the United States, began in this city this morning with over 500 delegates and commissioners in attendance representing every state and territory in the Union. The commissioners assembled in Horticultural hall, and at about 10 o'clock, having formed in procession in state delegations, marched to the First Presbyterian church, the oldest in the city. A dense crowd of people surrounded the church, and as many as could gain admission quickly crowded the building to its utmost capacity. Hundreds were turned away.

After religious exercises, came the opening address of Moderator Rev. Dr. Smith. It comprised an exhaustive sketch of the rise and growth of the Presbyterian church, and referred particularly to the organization of the first Presbyterian synod, and the first general assembly, in this city.

The first business session of the assembly was called to order at 2 30 P. M. in Horticultural hall.

Without transacting any business the assembly adjourned till 4 30 P. M. and when it reassembled proceeded to the election of a moderator which resulted in the choice of Rev. Dr. C. L. Thompson of Kansas City. He was inducted to office and the convention adjourned until to-morrow.

BLAINE'S HEALTH EXCELLENT.

The Opinion of a Physician Who Recently Saw Him in Naples

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio, May 17.—Dr. Jay W. Morrison of this city returned yesterday from an extended trip throughout Europe. While in Naples recently the doctor met James G. Blaine. He says Mr. Blaine was enjoying the best of health. He did not have that tired exhausted look which he wore when we saw him here four years ago and he looks like a different man. His hair and beard are almost snow white now and this change in his beard brings out the prominent lines in his strong face beautifully. His complexion is as clear and pure as a child's. His eyes are as keen and bright as those of a man twenty five years younger. I heard the reports of his ill health and I looked at him with the eye of a physician and I do not hesitate to say that he was in a superb physical condition. As I looked at him I felt that he was fit to fight the battle of his life. Those persons who think that he is not able to endure the strain of another campaign will realize their mistake if he is nominated and accepts.

THE A. O. U. W.

A Reception to Supreme Master Workman Jordan

PITTSBURG May 17.—A reception was given to Hon. Wm. H. Jordan, of San Francisco, supreme master workman of the A. O. U. W. and speaker of the California house of representatives, by resident officers of the grand lodge of Pennsylvania, and local subordinate lodges, and select knights of the A. O. U. W., at the Grand Central rink before an audience of 5000. An address of welcome was made by Hon. Harvey Henderson, of Allegheny City. In his response Jordan gave a sketch of the rise and progress of the order. Although not yet twenty years old, the membership in the United States and Canada now numbers about 250,000 members. New York leads in point of strength, with Illinois, Missouri, California and Pennsylvania following in order. Disbursements on account of beneficiaries are now $10 000 for every day in the year or $3 600 000 per annum. Large expenses and donations will increase the annual outlay to the order to more than $4,500 000.

The growth of the order, Jordan states, is healthy and in every way encouraging, and indicates its popularity. He paid high tribute to the late John Jordan Upchurch, founder of the order.

In an interview to night he said he had been well received at all points along his route as representative of the A. O. U. W., and everywhere found the feeling among the members satisfactory and active for its well being and glad to extend the lines of the order.

VILLARD'S RETURN TO POWER.

More About his Control of the Oregon & Transcontinental

NEW YORK May 17.—Further particulars will be of interest as regards the announcement that Henry Villard will next month be placed in control of the Oregon & Transcontinental Company. He organized the company in 1881 and was forced to retire from control in the autumn of 1883, when reverses came thick and fast upon him. His plan is, as the information came to the World to elect a sufficient number of his friends to constitute a majority of the board of directors of the company after which the directors will elect Mr. Villard president of the corporation.

For some time past a syndicate has been quietly working to obtain control of the stock of this company. It is claimed that out of the total stock issued 400,000 shares, the syndicate holds fully 300 000 shares. Sidney Dillon, the present president, will retire but will be retained by the board of directors in Villard's interest, as will also W. S. Bull. It is also said that Mr. Villard has arranged to take care of the floating debt of $3 000,000 which has hung over the property as a perennial menace, and that financially all will move smoothly.

It is estimated that the Villard party has also succeeded in obtaining a majority of the stock of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company, and that at the election it will pass into the control of Mr. Villard.

The Times has the following to say: 'Henry Villard will be at the head of the Oregon & Transcontinental again before long. A new board of directors will be chosen at the meeting of stockholders in June. Then Villard will be elected president. Sidney Dillon will resign that office, but will however, remain a director. Everything is said to be harmonious and satisfactory.'

THE FIFTEENTH DAY.

Proposed Changes in Methodist Organic Law Reported Negatively.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The opening work of the fifteenth day of the general Methodist conference began with the report of the judiciary committee on certain questions referred to it touching the organic law of the church.

The first question was 'May the discipline be so changed as to authorize the election of presiding elders at the annual conferences?' To this the committee answered no, as such proceeding would be a violation of the third restrictive rule, which leaves such matters solely in the hands of the bishop.

Question second. "May the discipline be so changed as to give the presiding elders co-ordinate authority with bishops in fixing the appointment of preachers?" 'No,' was the answer, 'as the appointing of preachers rested solely with the bishops themselves.'

Third question. "Can the term of office of a bishop be restricted to a term of years?" This was also answered in the negative as the law of the church makes the office one of lifelong tenure.

Fourth question. 'Can not bishops be assigned quadrennially to the Episcopal districts?' Answered negatively on the ground that the episcopacy is general.

The committee was unanimous except on the point relating to the tenure of the bishop's office to which a minority dissented.

A resolution was read asking that the committee on Episcopacy may not make any recommendation for the appointment of a missionary bishop for Europe. In support of the resolution Dr. Ashord of the German conference made a short address. Then followed a hot discussion on the subject.

MAHONE'S UNIT RULE.

He Carries It to the Virginia Republican Convention,

AND STIRS UP A DANGEROUS ROW.

Captain Wise Rebels, and Starts an Opposition Convention With His Followers—The Work of Other Conventions.

PETERSBURG, May 17.—Delegates to the republican state convention began to gather in the Academy of Music just before noon, and promptly at that hour, with the building about two-thirds full, Mahone came on the stage. His appearance was a signal for an outburst of applause. A few minutes after, John S. Wise, leader of the opposition to Mahone's unit rule, appeared and was also greeted with applause.

A noticeable feature of the convention was the great increase in the number of white delegates.

At 12:30 o'clock Mahone stepped to the front of the stage and was greeted with enthusiastic applause, which was interspersed with rounds upon rounds of cheers for Blaine, Sherman, the unit rule, etc. When quiet had been restored, Gen. Mahone, after acknowledging the compliment, proceeded to address the convention.

Hon. Wm. Lamb was chosen temporary chairman, and briefly addressed the convention. Committees were appointed, and the convention adjourned until 4 o'clock.

Upon reassembling, reports from the several districts were read. When the seventh district was reached, it appeared that there were two delegations claiming recognition of the convention, and thereupon an uproar ensued, during which the friends of both sides seemed to vie with each other in trying to see which could make the most noise. The matter was postponed until the committee on credentials should be heard from, and recess was taken.

MAHONE AND WISE AT WAR.

The Third district delegates remained in continuous convention from 1:30 P. M. till 9 P. M., and during that time there was a bitter wrangle between the Mahonites and the opponents of the unit rule, which finally resulted in the latter leaving the meeting in a body, and refusing all compromise with the Mahonites and claiming to be the regular delegates from the convention.

At 9:30 P. M. the convention reassembled, when the committee on permanent organization reported, naming Col. W. Lamb of Norfolk, as chairman.

The report of the Third district delegates (Mahonites) was presented. John S. Wise, who led the opposing delegates from the same district, advocated the claims of his delegation. He charged corruption and fraud on the part of the opponents in his district. He came to this convention, he said, with forty-five out of sixty-six delegates from his district, and the convention had tried to weaken them by letting in these imposters and frauds. He was going to hold a district convention in spite of all, and was going to Chicago to fight the battle of the republican party, and let those who did wrong stand from under. The time had now come when this plan of organization had to be stopped, and not be submitted to any longer. Capt. Wise then called upon all those opposed to the unit rule to retire from the hall, and hold a separate meeting. He then left the stage, and amid tremendous shouts, hzzass, and waving of hats, etc., about 150 left the hall.

MAHONE RUNS HIS MACHINE.

Comparative quiet followed the departure of the seceders. Delegates at large were elected as follows: J. G. Watts, J. Z. Brown, A. A. Harris, and Gen. Wm Mahone. The unit rule at Chicago, and continuance of the present plan of organization were adopted. The platform pledges full support to the party, arraigns the democratic party as false to its professions and guilty of a long list of other shortcomings, and calls on the voters of the state to assist in putting the republican party into power in order that it may do the things which the democrats have left undone. It calls on Virginia's representatives in congress to maintain and extend protection, and remove the tax from tobacco and fruit. It declares that Virginia is a republican state.

Gen. William Mahone, Gen. Smith Bowling and E. W. Waddell constitute the state executive committee.

Gen. Mahone then made a brief speech, expressing his gratitude for the action of the convention. Adjourned.

THE RECALCITRANTS.

The seceders organized in the armory, with Gen. V. Greener, of Norfolk, as chairman. Addresses were made by Hon. John S. Wise, Senator Riddleberger and others, in which Gen. Mahone was jumped on.

CALIFORNIA DEMOCRATS.

They are for Cleveland, and His Policy in the Tariff.

LOS ANGELES, May 17.—When the democratic convention met this morning, Chairman White of the committee on resolutions read the platform. It indorses President Cleveland's administration and pledges the party to secure an equitable revision of the tariff, favors free coinage of gold and silver, opposes the subsidizing of monopoly, indorses the new Chinese treaty, declares that the party favors an amendment to the constitution, so as to have United States senators elected by a direct vote of the people. The platform also favors the management of the postal and telegraph systems by the government, indorses pressure of the California tax cases against the railroads and denounces corporations which have refused to pay their taxes. The platform, in conclusion, expresses a hope that Cleveland will again be the standard-bearer at the next election. At the conclusion of the reading there was loud cheering.

The platform was unanimously adopted as a whole, after which Bernard D. Murphy, of Santa Clara, and Campbell P. Berry, of Sutter were elected for presidential electors at large and the convention adjourned till 1:30 this afternoon.

THE TARIFF PLANK.

The full tariff plank is as follows: "The democracy is pledged to an equitable revision of the tariff. The republican party, while admitting the inequality and injustice of the revenue laws enacted under the excitement and necessities of a great war, persistently fails to suggest any reform, and obstinately seeks to defeat all efforts directed at the adoption of a just and comprehensive measure. We believe in fostering American industry, but we oppose the subsidy of a single one of the great monopolies, and the centralization of money in the hands of a few autocrats, whose aims and wishes are wholly at variance with the welfare of the toilers of the land. We heartily endorse that progressive measure, commensurate with and made necessary by the growth and needs of our country, the message of the president, urging reform in our tariff which will lessen the exactions now practiced upon our people."

DELEGATES TO ST. LOUIS.

When the convention met after recess Chairman Del Valle announced that the election of four delegates at large to the St. Louis convention was in order. M. F. Harper and W. E. English, of Alameda, Stephen M. White, of Los Angeles, and O. W. Taylor, of Shasta, were elected. Alternates were also elected, after which the result of the elections by district conventions was read by the secretary.

FOR SUPREME JUDGE.

After the secretary had read the list, each of the delegates, presidential electors and candidates made a speech endorsing the platform.

The convention then proceeded to the selection of a candidate for chief justice of the supreme court. Niles Searles, J. F. Sullivan and J. W. Armstrong were placed in nomination. On the first ballot the vote stood: Searles 149, Sullivan 134, Armstrong 177, necessary to a choice, 258. The second ballot resulted: Searles 284, Sullivan 179, Armstrong 47. Searles was declared the choice of the convention and his nomination was made unanimous.

The election of a new state central committee was next in order, after which the convention adjourned sine die.

DISTRICT CONVENTIONS.

LOS ANGELES, May 17.—The third district convention met again this morning, and the nomination of a candidate for congressman was postponed till September. J. J. White, of Alameda, and E. G. Blessing, of Sacramento, were elected delegates to the St. Louis convention, and Charles Jenkins, of Sacramento, was chosen for presidential elector.

The fifth congressional district convention this morning selected C. T. Ryland, of San Jose, and Maurice Schmitt, of San Francisco, delegates to the St. Louis convention. N. Bowden, of Santa Clara, was chosen for presidential elector. State Senator Thomas J. Clunie, of San Francisco, was nominated for congress.

Delegates to St. Louis from the Sixth congressional district, V. R. Knapp, of Visalia; J. Graves, San Luis Obispo. Presidential elector, Byron Waters, San Bernardino.

MINNESOTA DEMOCRATS.

Mayor Ames Will Go as a Delegate to St. Louis.

ST. PAUL, May 17.—The democratic state convention to nominate delegates to St. Louis was called to order at 12:15. The conflict between the the factions, led by Chairman Doran of the state committee and Mayor Ames of Minneapolis, was at once precipitated by Doran proposing Eugene M. Wilson for chairman. The Ames faction at once nominated E. W. Durant. After a sharp contest over the unit rule, Wilson was elected by a vote of 287 to 146, and thus in one short, sharp struggle was decided the only question to provoke serious discussion in the convention.

Wilson spoke briefly, declaring that one thing essential to the Minnesota democracy was harmonious loyalty to the delegation finally selected to St. Louis. The party in Minnesota had been growing stronger since it so nearly carried the election two years ago, and with harmony it can carry the state this fall. So general is the sentiment of Minnesota democrats in favor of the renomination of President Cleveland that the action of this convention in the nomination of delegates will be only formal. There is no question that the great majority of the people of this state, irrespective of politics, are in favor of a large reduction of the iniquitious war tariff.

The appointment of the usual committies was followed by a recess.

At the opening of the afternoon session, amid the wildest applause, Mayor Ames, of Minneapolis, and chairman Doran, of the state committee were chosen delegates at large. Mayor Robert A. Smith, of St. Paul, and John Lindwig were the others chosen.

The full complement of district delegates was selected, and the convention heard the report of the committee on resolutions. It declares that war taxation should be discontinued, and that only sufficient revenue should be collected for the support of an economical government. Taxation for government purposes should be imposed on luxuries and not the necessities.

The tariff plank says: "While we are not nemindful of the growing interests of the people of the state of Minnesota in this great question, we declare our conviction that tariff reduction is not a local issue only, but one of transcendent national importance. It was made so unequivocally by President Cleveland. We declare it to be our judgment that the following articles should go on the free list: Salt, coal, wool, lumber, sugar, iron, steel, drugs and medicines, clothing, household goods; tools, machinery and all raw materials."

The convention also endorsed the action of Minnesota's three democratic congressmen on the tariff question. This was amended to include Knute Nelson, the republican member. Adjourned.

UNITED LABOR NOMINATION.

Another Presidential Candidate in the Field.

CINCINNATI, May 17.—The united labor convention upon reassembling to-day took up the question of the nomination of a presidential candidate. Considerable argument followed, it being urged that the old parties were so far wrong that members of this party could not vote for their candidates.

After a long discussion it was resolved to place a national ticket in the field. Robert H. Cowdry, of Illinois, and Victor H. Wilder, of New York, were named. The ballot resulted in the choice of Cowdry for president, he receiving 50 votes and Wilder 12. Names were then presented for vice president.

W. H. T. Wakefield, of Council Grove, was nominated for vice-president by acclamation. The convention then adjourned sine die.

Cowdry is a druggist and Wakefield is an editor and anti-monopolist.

DAKOTA DELEGATES.

Blaine Men Chosen, with Gresham for Second Choice.

JAMESTOWN, Dak., May 17.—The republican territorial convention yesterday selected delegates to the Chicago convention. They are gant, Mody, Sullivan, Hopp, Foster, Plummer, Hubbard, Hansorough and Richardson, all Blaine men save one. Gresham is second choice of the entire delegation. The platform arraigns the democratic party for refusing Dakota admission, demands a division of the territory, and her admission as two states.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Maryland Republican Convention.

EASTON, Md., May 17.—The republican state convention met here to-day, and was largely attended. The opening scenes were harmonious and enthusiastic. Dr. Wash. G. Tuck was unanimously elected temporary chairman.

Permanent organization was effected with Col. Rhodes in the chair. The platform denounces the democratic tariff policy; favors abolition of taxes on tobacco, and alcohol for use in the arts, and modification of the duty on sugar. Other sections denounce the administration as false in its professions of reform in the civil service; favor a liberal pension policy; approve the action of the republicans in congress in opposing the Mills bill.

Walter P. Brooks, Gen. Adam E. King, Wm. D. Burchimal and Daniel D. Dickson were chosen delegates to the Chicago convention.

Delaware Republican Convention.

DOVER, Del., May 17.—The republican state convention was called to order at 12:30, with Washington Adams presiding. He made an address, in which he said he believed the time had come when Delaware republicans would take their stand firmly and unequivocally on the subject of temperance and against the saloons. This was received with applause. After the appointment of committees the convention took a recess to 2:30.

The following district delegates to Chicago were elected: Henry C. McLeary, E. G. Bradford, J. H. Whittaker, A. C. Conner, Charles H. Treat and C. H. Maull. They favor Blaine, but are uninstructed.

The business of the convention was concluded at the afternoon session by the election of delegates named in a previous dispatch, and the adoption of resolutions denouncing the president's tariff message and the Mills bill, and endorsing high license. The delegates are uninstructed, but favor Blaine.

Louisiana Senator Makers.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 17.—The democratic caucus last night discussed the question of the nomination of a United States senator. The motion to nominate the junior senator first was lost by a vote of 73 to 42. This is regarded as showing Gibson's strength. The caucus adjourned until 8 P. M. to-day.

The democratic legislative caucus to-night nominated Gen. Gibson to succeed himself as U. S. senator. On the ballot for junior U. S. senator the result was: White 37, Eustis 31, Jonas 37, Blanchard 10.

The Coleman Failure.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—The opinion is growing in commercial circles that the house of Wm. T. Coleman & Co. has practically passed out of existence. Ostensibly the work of rearranging the affairs of the old firm is progressing, and a satisfactory statement will, it is hinted, be soon presented. The fact is regarded as full of significance, however, that the newly organized firm known as the Johnson-Locke Mercantile Company is receiving the warm support of Wm. T. Coleman & Co.

South Carolina Democrats.

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 17.—The democratic state convention met here to-day. Hon. T. J. Pope of Newberry, was elected chairman. The following were chosen delegates at large by acclamation: J. F. Hart, F. W. Dawson, W. Jones and C. A. Wood.

The platform indorses the administration of President Cleveland and his message on the tariff, declares the treasury surplus a menace to the country, and approves the Mills tariff bill. Adjourned.

North Carolina Prohibitionists.

Nevada Democratic Convention.

VIRGINIA, Nev., May 17.—The democratic state convention assembled to-day. M. S. Bonnifield was elected chairman. Delegates to the national convention: Ex-Senator J. G. Fair, N. H. A. Mason, J. W. Dorsey, George Ernst, J. S. Mooney and B. Garraghan. For presidential electors: Theodore Winters, J. H. Hardin and O. C. Thomas. For congressman, George W. Cassidy was nominated by acclamation. For supreme court, Wm. M. Seawell, by acclamation.

WORK OF "REFORMERS."

A Lesson in "Civil Service Reform" From Cleveland's Office-Holders.

A letter from Polk county, received by THE OREGONIAN yesterday, encloses the following circular. It is a fine object lesson in the civil service reform methods of the present administration:

PERSONAL.

The opportunity for Oregon has arrived. This state can, if she will, lead the democratic procession. The eyes of the whole country are fixed on Oregon and our approaching election. As goes Oregon on June 4, so will many a sister state go in November. If democracy triumphs here, lasting honors and a great reputation will be ours, and the burdens of tariff taxation lifted from the shoulders of our people. We can accomplish this if every man of influence does his whole duty. Among others the six hundred postmasters of Oregon can do much in this great contest. If each postmaster will make it his special duty to get three votes, outside of his party, for John M. Gearin, our nominee for congress, success is certain. Surely among neighbors and acquaintances three votes are not many to win as personal favors. But the aggregate for six hundred postmasters is one thousand eight hundred votes—more than enough to wipe out Hermann's majority of two years ago. Holding an office does not deprive a man of his rights as a citizen. Let us all work incessantly, and on the day of election either stay at the polls, or bring every friendly voter in. Ours is the only state election before November that is at all significant this presidential year. If victory is ours on the 4th of June the name of the Oregon democracy will be covered with imperishable glory all over the country, and in no councils of the nation. UNITED DEMOCRATS.

This circular is printed on a sheet of book paper five by ten inches in size, in pica type, leaded. Its appearance and the matter it contains indicate that it came from a source outside the state;—in short, that it emanated from administration headquarters, and that it is one of the expedients which agents of the administration are employing in their desperate efforts to carry Oregon. Each postmaster is told that it is his duty "to get three votes outside of his party," and that this will assure success. No doubt the agents of the administration, now traversing the state, will visit the postmasters, for the purpose of giving them special instructions and furnishing them the means with which to "get" the votes. Never was any abuse of official place like this witnessed in Oregon before. But it is going to be a troublesome thing for "each postmaster to get three votes outside of his own party." Republican spirit and republican principle everywhere will be on guard. Watch the postmasters and office-holders generally throughout the state!

NO MONEY.

SALEM, May 17.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Please give me space to say that the dispatches repeatedly published in THE OREGONIAN to the effect that the Washington administration is causing money to be sent to Oregon to be used in our pending election, are untrue. If President Cleveland and his administration is taking interest in our election, the democratic state committee has not been made aware of it. With the exception of $200 from a California fund that committee has received no assistance from outside of the state, and very little inside. A. BUSH.

[It may shrewdly be suspected that the administration's money would not be used through the state central committee, but would be distributed throughout the state by confidential agents, who are known to be going through every county. These things are done most effectively by ignoring the organized machinery and getting as near to the corruptible voter as possible.—ED.]

A Deceptive Heading.

A lazy but sensational manner of subheading long articles is what is known in journalism as the "running sub-head." By it startling effects are sometimes achieved in articles that are far from sensational. For instance, the following, from the Walla Walla Wah-Wah, Col. Redington's bright illustrated weekly:

Some level-headed old-timers years ago saw with their eagle eyes that Walla was bound to produce cords and cords of fine fruits and vegetables that could not possibly be consumed at home, so they struck out from their comfortable Walla homes and founded Ellensville, Spokane Falls,

BELL

Elm, Montana, St. Paul and other towns, for the sole purpose of using up the surplus fruit crops of Walla Walla. Those places have thrived immensely on Walla produce, and their founders builded better than they knew.

TO-DAY'S WEATHER.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—Indications for the twenty-four hours commencing at 8 o'clock this evening: For Oregon and Washington Territory generally fair weather in southern Oregon. Local rains elsewhere.

The Oregon Blood Purifier is nature's own remedy, and its exclusion of all poisonous matter in the cure of the stomach, liver and kidneys.

THE PACIFIC COAST.

Palouse City Swept by a Most Disastrous Fire.

A HUSBAND'S WRONGS INCREASED.

He Faces His Runaway Wife Near Salem, and is Nearly Killed by Her Paramour—Landreth Pleads Not Guilty.

COLFAX, W. T., May 17.—Fire broke out in Palouse City to-day that consumed the entire eastern portion of the town. Half of the business houses are already destroyed. The fire is now raging westward, with no available means of defense. No definite information can be obtained as the telephone office was destroyed after the above message was received.

[THE OREGONIAN'S Washington territory representative sent word from Pullman that he had made arrangements for a complete report of the conflagration, and that it would come via Spokane Falls. Fearing that some hitch might occur at the latter city, this office at once dispatched a cautionary telegram. But despite this precaution no particulars have been received at press hour, and all connections with Eastern Washington points has been broken.]

HE FOUND HIS WIFE,

And was Nearly Killed by the Guilty Woman's Paramour.

SALEM, May 17.—Several weeks since there arrived in Salem, from Pueblo, Colorado, an individual of the name of Wm. Marston, who was accompanied by a woman who passed herself as Mrs. Marston, and two children, boy and girl, nearly grown. Mr. and Mrs. Marston, so called, announced their intention of settling near Salem, and bought twenty acres of land near Lake Labish, and built a house thereon, and otherwise made preparations for a permanent residence in this county. But a day or two since H. D. Kelly, a citizen of Pueblo, arrived in Salem in search of his wife and children who had eloped with Marston, for eight years an employe of his, a month or more since; and had taken, as he claims, some money and other valuables belonging to him. Kelly found out the location of the couple and to-day went down to their farm. His reception was rather hotter than he expected, for he was attacked by Marston and terribly beaten about the head and body. Three of his ribs were broken, and it is feared that they pierced his lungs. He was brought to this city, and is now lying at Col. Wade's law office, attended by two physicians. He is in very serious condition, and may not recover. Marston was arrested on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon, and will probably be examined to-morrow.

Supreme Court.

SALEM, May 17.—G. F. Beers, appellant, vs. Dalles City, respondent; and W. L. Sylvester, appellant, vs. Dalles City, respondent; appeal from Wasco; argued and submitted. Bennett and Wilson attorneys for appellant, F. P. Mays attorney for respondent.

CIRCUIT COURT AT DALLAS.

Landreth Pleads Not Guilty, and Will be Tried May 28.

SALEM, May 17.—To-day at 1 P. M., in the circuit court at Dallas, Wm. Landreth entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of murder of his step-daughter Symmie Ellis Arille, at Independence last January and his trial was set for Monday, May 28, at 9 A. M. There is not an absorbing amount of interest manifested in the trial in Polk county. Everyone seem to feel sure that the murderer will be found guilty by due process of law, and for that reason there is thought to be no danger of any lynching party, such as hung Kelly last July. J. L. Collins, the attorney appointed by the court to defend Landreth, states that he will enter a plea of insanity for his client, and will make all due and legitimate effort in his behalf. Landreth, immediately after postponement of the trial, was brought back to Salem by Sheriff Groves.

In the same court Frank Smith pleaded guilty to assault with a dangerous weapon on Marshall Bohannon, at Independence last week, and was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary.

Beancwitz, alleged larcenist, is now on trial.

Ed Thurman, indicted for stealing horses, has forfeited bonds of $600 by skipping the country.

Willis and Al Jordan, two incorrigible boys bound over for horse-stealing, were to-day released, not a true bill having been found in the case.

FOR A SPEED ROAD.

The Association Will Expend Thirty-five Thousand Dollars.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—The San Francisco Speed Track Association, having collected sufficient funds, has let a contract for the construction of a speed track in Goldenside park, to the San Francisco Bridge Company, and work will be commenced on it immediately. The track will be 6400 feet long, and will begin at the southern foot of Strawberry hill, extending nearly to the beach. It will be as nearly straight as possible, will be sixty feet wide, with a hedge in the center, making two roads—one for teams going towards the beach, and the other for those returning. There will be no sheds or buildings in connection with the speed road, but the plans of an observation path contemplate the erection of a stand capable of seating several hundred people, which overlooks the entire track.

In theory, at least, the occupants of the stand will not be allowed to bet on the outcome of any race. It is to be a model speed track for testing the capacity of horses, but none of the evils of horse-racing are to be realized at this moral show. The cost of building the speed road will be $35,000.

RAYMOND EXCURSIONS.

A Large Number of Tourists Will Return via Portland.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—General Western Agent Harding, of the Raymond excursions, said to-day: There is now a party of 140 on the way here from New England, in a vestibule train. About thirty of these will go to Alaska. A carload of returning excursionists will leave for Boston on Monday, going via Portland and the Oregon Short Line, and another carload will leave next Thursday, going over the Northern Pacific. On the 30th instant a special vestibule train of four cars will leave for Boston, taking about seventy-five returning tourists. Some of the New England excursionists now here will leave the city on the 24th inst for Alaska. There will be about twenty-five in the party, among them a number who recently returned from the Hawaiian islands.

Politicians and their friends who expect to be at the Chicago and St. Louis conventions are disappointed in not securing lower round trip rates than those granted by the transcontinental association on Tuesday.

THE WAR IN CHINA RATES.

Flour Now Carried to the Orient for $3 a Ton.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—Competition between the Canadian Pacific and the Occidental & Oriental and Pacific Mail Companies, has led to considerable cutting of China rates. The former company now offers to take flour at $3 per ton by the Abyssinia, and are getting a considerable portion of the traffic. The Pacific Mail Company's agents have gathered in shipments of flour which aggregate 1000 tons, for export by the City of Peking, which departs on Wednesday. On general merchandise rates average about $10 a ton, which is far below the figures formerly obtained.

Passenger fares have suffered as well as freight rates. The companies are asking $175 for cabin passage to Hong Kong and Shanghai, and $150 to Yokohama. Chinese steerage passengers, $90.

A MURDERER AT BAY.

He Repulses His Pursuers by Killing Two of Them.

CARSON, Nev., May 17.—About a year ago John Shay, a half-breed Indian, killed another Indian here, and escaped. After the affair had died out he returned here, where he remained until Sunday last, when a brother of his victim waylaid him on the street and shot him dead, the murderer fleeing afterward to Folsom's wood camp, where he concealed himself. Four of Shay's friends followed him, and on Monday night reached his hiding place. He opened fire and killed two of them. The others returned to town, and a posse was formed to pursue him. It is said he had previously killed two Indians in Washoe valley, and threatened to kill any one interfering with him.

CALIFORNIA.

The Campaign in Oregon.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17.—The Call has this to say, editorially: The democratic canvass is being conducted on the free wool basis. An Oregon contemporary calls attention to the fact that four years ago the democratic complaint was that the tax on foreign wool was not high enough. The California state democratic platform then declared that the present tariff on wool is an unjust discrimination against a great industry, and we denounce the same, and demand restitution of the tariff of '67." Mr. Cleveland's free trade message has convinced these democratic leaders that they were wrong in denouncing the present tariff on wool as not high enough. Mr. Cleveland tells them that it is too high, and they accept the dictation of the man who has all the offices at his disposal. The people of Oregon will soon have an opportunity to let the country know what they think of free trade. Hunger and thirst for office may take the backbone out of the leaders of the party, but the masse of the voters will not, we trust, be caught with such chaff.

THE PAPAL RESCRIPT

A Conference of Forty Parnellites at Dublin.

THEY ISSUE A LONG MANIFESTO

Recounting Ireland's Wrongs, and Reminding the Pope That He is Venturing Upon Dangerous Ground.

DUBLIN, May 17.—Forty Parnellites, including Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien, sat nine hours in the court house to-day, discussing the papal rescript. A sub-committee was appointed, consisting of D. Sullivan, T. D. Sullivan, O'Brien, Redmon, Healy and Harrington, with Kenny and Clancy as secretaries, to draw up resolutions on the principles agreed to.

The meeting prepared a manifesto, which is very long. It says:

"Being aware that the papal rescript is being used by the enemies of the holy see, and of the Irish people, to the prejudice of the Irish cause, to estrange the people and their spiritual guides, and to increase the dangers which threaten the people; and being mindful of our obligations to the holy see, and of our duty as constitutionally elected representatives, we have deliberated together and adopted these resolutions. The allegations of fact put forth in the circular are, to our knowledge, unfounded, and could not have been promulgated under authority of the holy office, if the statements prejudicial to the Irish people had been tested by reference to Irish prelates and the elected representatives of the people."

The circular then takes up, in detail, all the points as to land contracts, rent-fixing courts, the plan of campaign, etc.

The manifesto states that "unjust and cruel exercise of the legal powers of eviction has been used for generations, and has banished millions of them from their country; and as the legal power of eviction is armed with new facilities by the act passed in 1887, by a legislature controlled by landlords, who are devoted at the present moment to the destruction of thousands of families, together with appropriation of their legal interest in ownership of the soil, we solemnly declare that the merciless exercise of this power has been and is one of the great causes of evil passion, conflict and crime in Ireland, and that public feeling which, in extreme cases, has resulted in the denial of social intercourse, is a feeling excited in the minds of the people by their love of justice and desire for Christian charity, which should mould the law of the land and prevail in the relations of life.

"We repudiate the assumption that the status of the Irish farmers is that of mere tenants at will.

"We cannot refrain from expressing our regret that the holy see is silent regarding the source of the evils and disorder affecting the Irish people. This silence is more to be deplored in the interest of religion and our mutual cause, because it has enabled enemies to misuse the name of the holy see, and because the admonition of the rescript was against systematic violation of justice and charity committed by way of attack on our homes and on the property of our people. The demand for the Irish people for agrarian reform and political liberty is dictated by necessity, sustained by natural justice, and conducted by modesty of action and methods of organization prescribed by the constitution, to which the Irish people owe what they have won of civil and religious freedom. The force of this national movement against unconstitutional coercion and organized calumny will continue to be exerted until we shall achieve success.

"While unreservedly acknowledging the spiritual jurisdiction of the holy see, we, as guardians of those civil liberties which our Catholic forefathers defended, feel bound to solemnly reassert that Irish Catholics can recognize no right of the holy see to interfere with the Irish people in the management of their political affairs."

IRRITATION AT PEKING.

Over the Action of the Australian Colonies Against Chinese.

LONDON, May 17.—Dispatches from China say that much irritation has been caused at Peking, in consequence of a belief that the action of the Australian government in the matter of Chinese immigration is a deliberate attempt to force Lord Salisbury's hand, and to compel the negotiation of a treaty similar to the Chinese-American treaty. The attempt, it is thought, will certainly handicap the negotiations. It is argued that it will be impossible to compel China to enter into negotiations; that the likelihood is that England will be forced to approach China as a suppliant, and that China will only negotiate on the basis of England's giving compensation, as the United States did. Finally the foreign board at Peking complains that Australia ought to endeavor to educate rather than to arouse public sentiment, and that it would have been more judicious to admit Chinese immigrants en route than to have telegraphed to Hong Kong and other ports, giving notice of closing Australian ports against Chinese immigrants.

NINE DOCTORS FAILED.

Two Most Remarkable Cases—How They Were Done by an Advertising Doctor.

A CARD TO THE PUBLIC.—I feel that I would not be doing my duty to sufferers if I did not let them know how badly afflicted I have been, and how and where to be cured. Ten years ago I was taken with painful prostration and have been troubled with it ever since that time, accompanied with every trouble in every conceivable way. About three months ago the climax came and I was prostrated with pain through the back, chest and lungs, and confined to my bed from excessive hemorrhage or flowing. Nine doctors of different schools of practice, one after the other, prescribed for me, but none gave me up, I applied to Dr. Darrin, and have cured me so I can walk from my residence, 160 North Fourteenth street, Portland, to his office. I am overjoyed with the result of the cure. MRS. E. J. IRIS.

Total Deafness Cured Sixteen Years Standing and Remains Permanent to This Date.

MR. EDITOR.—In 1872 my daughter was taken with the membranous croup, and after her recovery was left totally deaf. I consider it one of the greatest cures of electro-magnetic treatment ever performed, with great satisfaction, give this testimonial. I reside in Berkeley, Alameda county, Cal., and will take great pleasure in answering all inquiries concerning this most wonderful cure. Yours respectfully, WILLIAM J. Washington county prohibitionists have put a full ticket in the field, every man on which is a republican. H. B. Luce heads the ticket for senator. Astoria Pioneer: Sheriff W. G. Ross, after considerable trouble, succeeded in partially unraveling the mystery surrounding the disappearance of G. G. Smith, who has been absent from this city for about three weeks. Mr. Ross has learned that he left Portland on the R. R. The representatives of Edwin Blewitt, the great stock buyer of Fremont, Nebraska, who has been in Eastern Oregon since early spring buying mutton sheep, have got together a total of 40,000 head, and have commenced gathering for a start on the trail over desert and plain. In manage the entire herd will require the services of about fifty men, most of whom are young men from this section.

A Strange Scene.

Corvallis Times: The father and mother of young Wright, the boy that was murdered near Yaquina last week, are divorced. At the funeral, or the intervening time between the murder and the burial, not one of the children would speak to the mother, although they spent several hours in prayer for the forgiveness of the assassin, forgetting entirely the dear mother who had watched over them in the cradle in the days of their helplessness, and refusing to offer a word of consolation to the woman who gave them birth, in her hour of bereavement.

A Fight With a Spade and a Gun.

Pendleton East Oregonian, 16th: An altercation took place this morning, a few miles south of town, between J. B. Coyle and William, son of J. F. Temple, neighbors. The quarrel arose over the building of some fence. Coyle was at work digging post-holes, when Temple came up, and after some words they came to blows, in which Coyle got the worst of the encounter, his head being bruised and cut by a spade which he had in his hand, but which Temple got away from him. Coyle retaliated by shooting at Temple, which did not take effect. Coyle was arrested and brought before Justice Garrett. He waived examination and was bound over in the sum of $300 to await the action of the grand jury. He furnished the necessary bonds and was released from custody.

Another Careless Hunter.

Albany Democrat: News was received here last evening of the accidental shooting of Frank Mack, brother of William Mack, of this city, while hunting yesterday forenoon. Having a lighted pipe in a side pocket with the cartridges, one of them was exploded, blowing one of his fingers as well as this into.

Mr. Charles Johnson, who came over from Albany this noon, states that Mack is quite seriously, but not dangerously wounded. Besides losing the forefinger of the right hand, some of the shot went into his abdomen and has not been found. The shells were paper shot shells. In his pocket was a small gun screwdriver, and only part of which was found in the pocket afterwards, and it is thought the remainder is what is in him.

Read's work on the Eureka Flat railroad grade is progressing finely, and is now out nine miles from Wallula.

Wallula is rapidly forging toward the front as a supply point for the Big Bend country. Wagons are in town every day loading with goods for that region.

The Mount Vernon News says that capitalists have been inspecting the resources of Skagit county with a view to immediate development, by means of railroads, etc.

Sheriff Cochrane of Seattle and an armed posse went to the scene, but the Pierce county men, having done their work well, had fled. The White river people are much excited, and serious trouble is liable to grow out of the affair.

Wallula is flooded with about 600 idle men who cannot find work and have no money. It seems that G. W. Hunt sent east to an agency for 150 Italian laborers, to work on his branch road, and they sent him 600 men.

Mr. Dunlap, a farmer on the Swinomish flats, last year cut 500 tons of hay from 100 acres of land. He sold the whole yield for $20 per ton, deducting $5 per ton for cutting, baling, etc., which left him a net profit of $7500.

Gentlemen interested in the water ditch enterprise at Wallula are out on the preliminary survey soliciting right of way for the ditch from Snake river, about fourteen miles from town. This ditch will be much benefit to all in that end of Walla Walla county, and will redeem thousands of acres of land now of no use but for grazing purposes.

Wallula is enjoying a building boom, which will become a full blown one when Hunt's railroad begins to haul the wheat from Walla Walla, Dayton and way points. While Hunt's road will give the farmers and business men of Walla Walla a direct and cheaper line to the Sound, it will also make Wallula the trading point of the Eureka Flat section.

Whatcom Reveille: One day recently the Blanchard logging camp put in 90,000 feet. The locomotive is now operating, and the average for this season will be 90,000 per day. They make their logs in Port Discovery at $7 per thousand. The Blanchard Company have purchased the south point of Chuckanuck bay, and will probably erect a mill of their own soon.

Goldendale Sentinel: Judge Nash bought a saddle horse last week from Cyrus Thomas, and a saddle and bridle of our harnessmaker, W. H. Ward, and when court adjourned on Thursday struck out by land via Yakima for the Big Bend country, where he has extensive milling interests. The judge, by the way, is a man of no small means. He values his property at Spokane Falls at $100,000.

Getting His Deserts.

Walla Walla Journal: Beck, alias Bruno, was discharged from the pen to-day, having served a two years' sentence. Beck deserted from Fort Walla Walla two years ago, and at the time of his desertion was held to answer to the military authorities for striking a non-commissioned officer, and was sentenced for two years at Washington, but by some means or other he made his escape and landed in Dayton shortly afterward. He lived in perfect quietude for about two weeks, but being a natural thief, he stole two horses, sold them, was caught, convicted and sentenced. He was turned over to the military authorities upon being discharged from the penitentiary, and will be sent to Fort Alcatraz.

Lewis County News.

WINLOCK, W. T., May 16.—At a meeting of the citizens of Winlock on Monday evening it was determined that a deed of sufficient ground would be given free to any man who would come to the town with any manufactory of respectable proportions; and for this purpose a committee was appointed who are ready to open negotiations with mill men in want of a choice location. There are several excellent sites for mills in and near Winlock and the locator will be given his choice. Being on the railroad, about half way between Tacoma and Portland, in the heart of a splendid agricultural region with fine bodies of fir and cedar timber right at hand. Winlock is certainly an excellent point for any kind of wood-working machinery. Mill men can learn full particulars by addressing L. H. Adams, Winlock, Washington territory.

Winlockers are waking up to the necessity of showing the world they have some life left. A new bridge is being built across the creek on Front street, and one will be put over the same creek on Second street, and that street opened the entire length, while improvements on Front will soon commence. The school house is to be repainted outside and in, immediately, also the new M. E. church, and various things done to give the town an inviting appearance. Quite a sum of money has been raised to advertise the many advantages of this part of Lewis county, and a persistent effort will be made to attract desirable immigration.

The board of county commissioners, just adjourned at Chehalis, was occupied for a week with new road petitions, many of which were granted, and money given to repair old bridges.

The contract for doing the official printing of Lewis county for one year was let to the Pilot Saturday.

Crops of all kinds, especially fruit, are looking fine. Orchards are not only in good condition but the trees are loaded with bloom, and young fruit and wild berries also promise to be uncommonly plentiful.

SEATTLE, LAKE SHORE & EASTERN.

Contract Let for the Construction to Spokane Falls—The Line to be Completed Within Two Years.

A contract for the construction of the main line of the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern railway, connecting Seattle with Spokane Falls, has been let to the millionaire contracting firm of Ryan & McDonald, of New York, says the Seattle Post-Intelligencer. The mileage embraced in this contract is about 225 miles, and extends from a point a few miles east of the Gilman mines, in Squak valley via the Snoqualmie Pass, to connect with the fifty-mile section of the road which is now being built west from the Falls. The cost of this section is about $5,000,000, and the road must be completed so that trains can run between Seattle and Spokane Falls within two years from this 17th day of May, 1888.

The route from Seattle eastward is through the largest hop yard in the world, located in the Snoqualmie valley and skirting along the bank of the famous Snoqualmie falls, thence along the Snoqualmie prairie and Snoqualmie river, to and through an immense forest of timber twenty miles long and eight miles wide.

As the road emerges from this forest it penetrates the great mineral belt of the Cascade range, tapping rich beds of anthracite coal, not yet developed, and immense deposits of limestone and marble. This brings the road right into the heart of the famous iron mines of the Snoqualmie, which have been owned by citizens of Seattle for more than twenty years, and which have been pronounced by experts, both in England and America, as unsurpassed in quality of ore and extent of deposit.

When the line reaches the summit of the Cascade mountains in the Snoqualmie pass it will be only 125 feet above the elevation of the Northern Pacific tunnel through the same range of mountains, which cost $2,000,000, and over 600 feet below the level of the switchback. Besides this, on account of the more favorable exposure in the Snoqualmie pass, but little snowshedding will be required.

Leaving the pass the road skirts along the shores of Lake Kitchilass, a picture-que little body of clear water, one of the most beautiful mountain lakes in the world. The road proceeds thence by easy grades and inexpensive construction to the mineral regions of the Cle-Elum and on down through the fertile and beautiful valley of Kittitas, a rich and productive garden thirty miles in extent and peopled with a thrifty and enterprising people, who, on account of having no railroad facilities to transport their products to market, have gone extensively into the stock raising business. In the heart of this beautiful valley the road reaches Ellensburg, from which point it will derive a large traffic.

At Ellensburg the road takes a fresh start for the Columbia river, traversing the great bunch grass and stock raising section of Eastern Washington. The Columbia will be crossed by an iron bridge at or near Priest's Rapids, from which point the road will bear away northwesterly to the Big Bend country and the enterprising city of Spokane Falls. The Columbia river will be a great lateral feeder, and it is believed it will tax the utmost capacity of the road to carry the grain which will come up the river. Branch lines will be built in Eastern Washington and a connection with the Canadian Pacific is also promised.

Big Money Making.

It is claimed that the Dominion of Canada awarded a contract to build a bridge over the Fraser river, on the Canadian Pacific, to Contractor Onderdonk at $1,500,000, who sub-let the work to a firm of this city for $400,000, which in turn let the job to another contractor for 100,000, who let it for $75,000, at which figure the bridge was built.

THE NEWS FROM ALASKA.

The Latest Mining Craze in That Territory.

Increased Mail Facilities Demanded—A Backward Spring—Interest in Politics—Personal and General Notes.

The second month's issue of the Juneau City Mining Record is at hand. The paper presents as handsome a typographical appearance as any published in the city of New York and reflects great credit upon the publisher, Frank F. Myers. Many things of interest concerning this far-away territory of the United States and of those who are now residents of this little-settled country, are to be found in the columns of the Record.

The weather is described as having been most delightfully pleasant, the sun shining brightly and the weather being sufficiently warm to start the snow melting on the lower portions of the mountain ranges.

As much interest, in proportion to the population, seems to be taken in politics there as in the states. The republican territorial convention was to have been held May 5, and the occasion of electing delegates in Juneau was a gala one. The Juneau brass band played "Marching Through Georgia" and other patriotic airs. J. G. Heid, D. Flannery, J. C. Stid and Frank F. Myers were chosen to represent Juneau.

The backwardness of the present spring has shown a marked effect in Alaska mining circles. Very little work will be accomplished in the Basin before June, unless the weather within the next few weeks is decidedly changed, and heavy rains fall to aid in dispelling the deep snows now lying there. Work on the tunnels continue briskly and now and then rumors favorable to the pockets of the owners are circulated on the streets. Within a week or so several rich strikes were alleged to have been made, but the owners of the mines are reticent on the subject, and the Record does not give the rumors credence by publishing them.

Increased mail facilities, the Record says, are needed in Alaska beyond question. The rapid progress its territory has made within the past two years in the way of mining and fish canning and packing is daily growing more extensive, and the mercantile business is gradually expanding in proportion to the growth of other industries throughout Southeastern Alaska. The territory should have, at the very least, a semi-monthly mail.

During the past year the steamship company has found sufficient business to justify the running of two steamships a month—one carrying freight and mail, and the other nothing but freight—while a few years ago there was hardly enough freight to pay for the running of one boat, including the $18,000 received for carrying a monthly mail. Now the mail subsidy only amounts to about half that amount, and the necessities for an increased service have more than quadrupled. The people of Alaska have petitioned the postmaster-general time and again with no beneficial result. The officials of Sitka have represented to the department at Washington all the necessities for an increased service, and their prayers have been of no avail. The only excuse for not extending better mail facilities is "economy"—economy for the purpose of hoarding up the surplus money in the vaults at Washington, so that the administration may make a record for itself.

Although the law is very strict against the sale of intoxicants in the territory, yet it occasionally finds its way to the Indian villages, and a great carousal is sure to ensue. During those times it is generally understood that life or property is not safe. But it is some time since the authority of the "whites" (some of the natives, however, are as white as the average specimen of the so-called white race), was disputed, except during last summer a native who had murdered his wife at Berner's bay, while being brought to Juneau for trial, was taken from the officers by a party of armed natives, who refused to deliver him up to the authorities upon his being demanded. That night the miners held a meeting, armed themselves and at daybreak surrounded the village and threatened an immediate bombardment if the prisoner was not hastily produced. Great excitement immediately spread throughout the camp, and it was thought that it was a preparation to rally to arms, but presently a white flag was raised and the murderer was trotted out. If they have no particular respect for the "white man's law," they certainly have a very wholesome fear of the miners' rifles. Still that does not keep them from being criminals. They are very regretful, and it is believed that many missing white men have been murdered by them in some out-of-the-way place, in retaliation for some real or imaginary injury inflicted by them or their friends upon some member of their native tribe.

The latest mining craze in the territory is the black sand deposits in the Yakutat country. Everyone who has money enough and no business affairs to hold them back, are pushing on toward this section. The little schooner Charlie, Capt. J. J. Healy, with a large number of passengers, had a perilous trip, but at last reached Yakutat in safety. The steam schooner Leo has also sailed for the black sand regions, carrying thirty-nine passengers and a large quantity of freight consisting of lumber and supplies. The Charlie has returned, and the reports brought back from the Takutat country by Capt. Healy are not the most favorable.

An undue excitement was created among many of Juneau's citizens by irresponsible and fictitiously glowing accounts published of the deposits in that section. It has even been published that the black sand brought from there assayed between $40 and $60 to the ton, which of itself was an outrage, and only intended to excite those who knew little or nothing concerning black sand. It is claimed that sand which will assay from $1 50 to $3 will pay handsomely to work. However, there is still reason to believe that Yakutat is in a gold bearing section, and with the number of experienced prospectors there at present, we have every reason to hope that rich diggings will be discovered this summer.

The work of clearing ground for the foundation for the new 120-stamp mill on the Treadwell claim is progressing rapidly.

Quite a number of placer locations have been made lately on Gold creek, near its confluence with Gastineaux channel, just outside of the town limits.

The Huntington quartz mill, erected last summer by Price & Johnston at Berner's bay, is reported to have been carried away recently, or covered up by a snowslide.

The Alaska Union mill started up steam Monday for the purpose of breaking ore to fill the bin in the mill. It is not definitely known when the stamps will be put in operation; however, it will not be delayed a great while, as the facilities for extracting ore from the mine are nearly completed.

Clark Miller and Charles Crockett, two gentlemen from Southern Oregon, who have had considerable experience in black sand mining, left for the Yakutat country on the Leo. These gentlemen have a new process for separating the sand and gold, and propose giving it a thorough and practical test.

An act of March 3, 1885, appropriated $4000 for the purpose of constructing a log or frame court house and jail at Juneau. It might be well for the people of Juneau to inquire where is that $4000, and why has not the court house and jail been erected.

The schooner Adventurer, F. L. Bange, master, arrived in port last Monday from Seattle, having been twenty-nine days on the way. She is fitted out for an extended prospecting expedition and will sail shortly for Yakutat and Copper river, and later on will visit Cook's inlet.

The Ancon brought up a couple of Chinamen and landed them on Douglas island. This piece of news soon reached Juneau and a committee of about thirty visited the island and notified the proper persons that the Chinamen "must go," and they went on the return of the Ancon from Sitka.

Glacier bay certainly must be a very deep body of water, if reports which have reached this city be true. They are to the effect that great icebergs nearly a mile square and projecting out of the water 300 feet, were seen floating around in it. It is claimed that seven-eighths of a floating berg is under water. Next!

Dr. R. E. Henning, of Washington, is expected to arrive at Sitka some time in May to take charge of the medical department of the mission hospital. Mrs. Henning will accompany the doctor.

Judge L. L. Williams has built a new house.

Mrs. Herman Hart sailed on the Elder on a visit to her parents in Southern California.

But one child has been born during the past month—a boy, to the wife of Albert Anderson, of Douglas City, April 24.

Mr. T. J. Sonny, who has had charge of the chlorination works at the Treadwell mill, has resigned on account of his health and will move his family to Juneau.

Paymaster E. B. Webster, U. S. N., arrived at Sitka on the last Idaho and relieves Paymaster Calvert. Mr. Webster has many friends in Alaska, having been on this station a few years ago.

Miss Rhoda Lee, a very estimable lady who arrived at Sitka last fall from New York, has been appointed by the board of education to take charge of Juneau school No. 2, in place of Miss Jensen, who has tendered her resignation. Miss Lee has been employed as a teacher at the mission home.

MARSHAL ATKINS INTERVIEWED.

Prisoners Brought to McNeil's Island—Judge Dawson's Resignation—Etc.

Barton Atkins, U. S. marshal of Alaska, was at the Esmond yesterday. He brought four prisoners from Sitka, one of whom was Frank Fuller, the murderer of Archbishop Seghers, sentenced to ten years' imprisonment. Another was Indian Jim, sentenced to ninety-nine years for murdering his squaw. The other two were Indians, sentenced for minor offenses. Marshal Atkins left the quartette at the U. S. prison on McNeil's island before coming to this city. The Indian murderer is quite an old man, and on the down trip asked seriously if he would be compelled to live ninety-nine years in addition to his age to serve out his sentence.

Marshal Atkins said that there is a large influx of miners and prospectors into Alaska and they are scattering about in the different districts. In Southeastern Alaska a great deal of prospecting is going on. Tourist travel has not begun yet, he says, but the first installment of travelers is expected soon.

"Do you expect any trouble in the Behring sea this season?" was asked, and Mr. Atkins answered:

"I understand that a number of vessels are going in to fish, but if they do they will find the revenue cutters there and they will be seized and confiscated. However, I don't think that any vessel owners will jeopardize their property by any such act. The Behring sea is an inland sea, and was ceded to the United States by Russia, and the statute pertaining to it must and will be enforced.

Just as Mr. Atkins was leaving Sitka, Lafayette Dawson, judge of the United States court of Alaska, told him that his resignation was on the steamer. The cause of the resignation is unknown. Judge Dawson has contemplated leaving the place for some time. Hearing of his intention the entire population of Sitka petitioned him to reconsider his determination. Judge Dawson is in the prime of life, is an able lawyer, and it is believed that the small salary, $3000, has a great deal to do with his resignation. He has been in Sitka for a little over two years.

Before returning Marshal Atkins will go to Astoria and charter a tug to go to Sitka and tow the schooners Grace, Dolphin, Ada and Anna Beck to Port Townsend. These vessels were seized and confiscated for illegal fishing in Behring sea and will be sold by the government.

COOS BAY FEELING THE BOOM.

Much Activity in the Lumber Industry—New Mills Under Construction.

Mr. H. G. Ploeger, of Empire City, who is here as a delegate to the grand lodge, I. O. O. F., reports that everything is prosperous in that section of the state.

The Oregon Southern Company have about finished the reconstruction of their large mill at Empire. Mr. Geo. W. Loggie, formerly of Skomokawa, is in charge as superintendent of the rebuilding. The capacity of the mill is to be about 150,000 feet per day. The company is also building a railroad from the head of Kitchen slough into their timber lands to carry out logs, and laying regular T rails, received for this purpose. They also have in the town a well-stocked general merchandise store.

Empire City in general is improving in the way of building and repairing, town property is increased in value and desirable lots are difficult to obtain.

M. Simpson & Brother are building a vessel at North Bend, four miles from Empire City.

A San Francisco firm—Porter, Schleinger & Co.—are building a mill a few miles above Empire City of a capacity of 75,000 feet per day.

On Isthmus slough another mill is in course of construction and a ship yard is connected with it. One craft is now on the stocks there.

E. B. Dean & Co.'s mill about a mile from Marshfield is kept busy sawing for Southern ports. The mills at North Bend are also busy sawing lumber for the California trade.

A company of surveyers are making a preliminary survey for a route for a railroad from Elkton to Coos river.

The coal mine at Newport, owned by Nicholas Dunning, of San Francisco, is running steadily. The steamers Arcata and Arago are making regular trips to San Francisco with this coal. The Santa Marra has been making regular trips from the mine to Southern California for Maxwell.

Empire City has four hotels, six saloons and two general merchandise stores, one dealer in furniture, and one in notions and fancy goods.

There are a great many people now coming into Empire—laborers, mechanics, capitalists and people looking for timber, coal and agricultural lands. There are good farms and grazing lands on the Coquille river, and a ready market is found for their products.

MORE LIFE AT ROSEBURG.

Prospects of a Woolen Mill Stimulating Activity—Fruit Culture.

Roseburg, one of the prettiest and most picturesquely situated towns in the Umpqua valley, is beginning to feel the invigorating effects of a boom since the citizens made up the $5000 to build the stone dam across the river, which is to secure them a woolen mill. Mr. Aaron Rose donates the waterpower, the citizens build the dam and two Scotch capitalists are ready to put in the mill as soon as the dam is ready. The prospect of having an addition of thrifty canny Scotch mill hands to the population, and the generally favorable aspect of things, has caused the price of real estate to advance 25 per cent.

A great deal of attention is now being given to fruit culture around Roseburg, the soil and climate being particularly adapted to this branch of agriculture. Mr. Thomas Farquhar, near Roseburg, will raise 2000 bushels of peaches this season. His peaches are well known in this market and are as large and fine as are produced on the coast. He cultivated half an acre of sweet potatoes last year, which gave good results, some of the potatoes weighing four pounds. This year he has one and a half acres in sweet potatoes and is also cultivating half an acre of peanuts. Another farmer near by is also raising half an acre of peanuts, and as the crop promises well it is to be hoped that Oregon may be saved from the clutches of the great peanut trust.

In addition to the fund for the dam, the citizens have raised $2000 to advertise the town.

Mr. Harry McClallen has built a three-story addition to his hotel, adding fifty rooms to its accommodation.

A fine spring up at Mr. Bowers's place on the hill, some 350 feet above town, has been connected with a fire plug in town which throws water 200 feet.

It is unnecessary to say that a number of persons in the vicinity of Roseburg are engaged in raising strawberries, as the fruits of their labors are seen here daily

It's Always the Way.

"Didn't I tell you so?" said a gentleman to an acquaintance whom he chanced to meet on the street; "it's always the way." "What's always the way?" inquired a mutual friend of the two men who happened along just then. "Why, just this," replied the first speaker "you see Smith, here, the last time I met him he had one of the worst coughs you ever heard. He complained of a loss of appetite, of night-sweats, of low spirits and other unmistakable premonitory symptoms of consumption. I told him to get a supply of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery at once. He did so, and look at him now! Did you ever see a healthier looking man? The 'Discovery' has stretched thousands from consumptive graves. I knew it would cure Smith. It's always the way."

FARMINGTON'S PROSPERITY.

Another Town in the Palouse Country That is Growing Right Along—Railroad News.

FARMINGTON, W. T., May 15.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Our newspaper, the Post, having temporarily suspended publication, we are unable to speak through an organ of our own. Thinking, perchance, that some of your many readers might be interested in news from our section, I will take pleasure in furnishing weekly communications until our own paper reappears.

The 1st of the month our people were much excited over the prospects of a new school building, the same to cost about $10,000. The 4th of the month the question was submitted to the vote of the district and resulted in 87 for, 6 against the proposed improvement. The directors have obtained the site and are hard at work on the bonds, plans, specifications, etc. Construction of the same will commence, and it is expected will be finished in time for the winter term.

A company has been formed of Spokane and Farmington men to develop the stone quarry referred to by the Post some time since. The stone is a superior sandstone grit, of a light pink color; is easily worked when taken from the quarry, but becomes hard after a short exposure to the air. The near location of the stone to the O. R. & N. Co. depot renders shipment easy, and doubtless this move will give a new impetus to the erection of a better class of buildings in Farmington.

The O. R. & N. surveyors are expected to arrive on the morrow. They have been surveying from near Endicott to the Cœur d'Alene reservation, one line via Farmington, the other via Oakesdale. Our citizens have been assured that the road would be built to Farmington by railway officials, and business is brightening rapidly.

The mines being prospected about four miles east of town is progressing finely. The prospects are showing stronger traces of gold and silver, and the owners are pushing the work rapidly. A large number of claims have been taken up in the vicinity.

Our town, but lately incorporated, is showing the use of this step. Sidewalks are being remodeled and nuisances removed, and a much more thrifty appearance is presented.

Several of our farmer neighbors have avowed their intention of building in the town in order to obtain the advantages to be offered by our new school. This building will be one of the finest, if not the finest public school in the county.

A large number of people are locating with us from the East, mostly from North Carolina and the Mississippi states.

The demand for the new descriptive pamphlets published by Gen. Tunnatt is increasing rapidly, and will doubtless prove a great aid to Portland and the Palouse country.

Our rains of late have given the crops a strong and rapid growth, and our farmers say that the Palouse country will record her largest yield and shipment this year.

Lumber is in demand with us. We would like to see more shipments from Portland.

The new boiler for the Farmington Flour Mills arrived last evening from Portland. Messrs. Taylor Bros. expect to remodel and refit the mill this fall and prepare themselves to meet the immense trade from the surrounding section and the Indian reservation.

We learn from our railroad friends that since the completion of the S. & P. railroad, travel on the O. R. & N. line has almost entirely ceased.

We hope that our O. R. & N. friends will once again assume the offensive and push her lines so as to secure for herself and Portland the trade of this section. Our S. & P. friends have shown themselves thoroughly long headed and have now a valuable line of track to Lewiston. FARMINGTONITE.

VALUE OF PLUMBAGO.

WHITE SALMON, May 14.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Will you please inform me if a pure plumbago mine would be valuable, and what the ore would be worth in large quantities on any of the railroads running into Portland.

MINER.

[The value of plumbago of course depends on its purity, and the value of the ore on the per centage of plumbago it contains. Some of the purest in pieces, which could be sawed into strips for pencils has sold as high as $40 per pound, but the average commercial quality, suitable chiefly for making crucibles, sells at wholesale for from $150 to $300 per ton. A good plumbago mine would be a valuable property. Of course, no idea could be formed of the value of such a mine until the ore had been tested.]

A PERTINENT INQUIRY.

PORTLAND, May 17, 1888.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In the seventies, when wool brought 42 to 45c per pound in the East, we did not pay any more for our clothing than we do now. Such being the case, will not the difference in the price of wool, if the tariff is taken off, all go into the pocket of the manufacturer instead of returning to the grower?

We judge all things by the past record, I speak of prices in the larger Eastern cities as now the advantages are the same then as now. H. WINSLOW.

The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, MAY 18.

"FOR THE GOOD OF THE PARTY."

Gen Hancock was nearly correct when he declared that the tariff was 'a local issue'—though he was widely ridiculed at the time. The entire tariff system is not, indeed, an issue in each locality but the interests of each locality demand special tariff protection, and this makes the local issue" of which Gen Hancock spoke

The pronounced free-traders, each and all are local protectionists Thus the democrats of Louisiana are for free trade in pretty much everything but sugar and the democrats of South Carolina are for free trade in pretty much everything but rice Even the democrats of the poor mountain districts of the Virginias where the products are nothing but sumac berries and gunwood are for protection of those articles, and a well-known democrat of Eastern Oregon, now an ardent supporter of the Mills bill, opposed free trade in wool with great vehemence till he sold his sheep a few weeks ago

It was at first the intention of the Mills committee to make a very heavy reduction of the duties on iron and iron products and to put coal on the free list But in Alabama and Tennessee during the last ten years, there has been rapid development of coal and iron industries, and so the democratic free trade representatives of those states came up in company with their democratic free trade brethren of Louisiana, who still wanted protection for sugar and told the Mills committee that if the protective duties on coal and iron should be seriously disturbed, they would vote against the whole bill. The free trade representatives of the iron districts of the South did the same for protection of rice, and these proceedings left the burden of 'tariff reform" to be borne by the wool-growers, who mostly live in Northern and republican states

Hence it has come about that at the command of the administration and of the democratic representatives of the South who, though ardent free traders in general always look out sharply for protection of the products of their own section, the democratic managers in Oregon have abandoned their platform of two years ago which demanded protection of wool and complained that the woolgrower was not protected equally with the manufacturer, and no longer stand up for protection of a leading product of their own state, but consent, through subservient partisanship, to a continuance of protection for the products of states relied on for democratic majorities

Two years ago the democratic party of Oregon told us through its state platform, that, "as a matter of justice, the wool-growing interests of the country should receive the same benefit from a tariff as the manufacturers of woolen goods" Likewise it condemned the republican party for having made a slight reduction of the duty on wool in 1883. But now the democratic party of Oregon is out for a policy which proposes absolute free trade in wool, yet leaves to the manufacturer greater benefits from protection than before True, some reduction of the duties on woolen goods is proposed, but the Mills bill, by giving the manufacturer his wool free of duty and still continuing to him a large measure of protection for his goods will enable him to get still greater profits than hitherto, and this is the argument used by the authors and supporters of the bill to commend it to the great manufacturing states of New England, New York and New Jersey

We have said that Gen Hancock was "nearly correct" when he said the tariff was a "local issue" By this qualifying expression we mean that it is not exclusively a local issue always, since from the behavior of the Oregon democracy, it is apparent that it is an issue that may depend largely on partisan considerations

But for the new aspect of the political situation, the democratic party of Oregon would still be as urgent for protection of wool as it was two years ago. It would still maintain as strenuously as then that, "as a matter of justice, the wool growing interests of the country should receive the same benefits from a tariff as the manufacturers of woolen goods.' It would still argue that the wool-grower of Oregon was as much entitled to protection as the sugar-planter of Louisiana, or the rice-planter of South Carolina But the new aspect of partisan affairs has changed all that. In readjustment of the tariff the South must not be offended, lest members of congress and electoral votes be lost to the democratic party, and an effort must be made to hold the great manufacturing states of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut. So the South is still to be allowed protection for its leading products, and the position is given up that "the wool growing interests of the country should receive the same benefits from the tariff as the manufacturers of woolen goods" The administration at Washington has ordered the democratic managers in Oregon to shut to this position, and they have obeyed

Thus it appears that the democrats of Oregon have not the spirit of the democrats of Louisiana The Mills committee was told without mincing of words, that sugar shouldn't be put on the free list and that if such a thing were attempted their state would throw the democratic party out of its borders. But when the democracy of Oregon are told that they must renounce their former position and give up the duty on wool, a leading product of their state they meekly submit for the good of the party' They would be glad, indeed, to have continued protection for wool, but they will yield to anything that the South requires This is substantially the old position of the democratic party of the North Many of its members didn't like slavery in itself but at the command of the South they consented to an effort to make it national and extend it all over the free territories of the United States

During the last forty years there has been nothing that the democratic party of the North, as a party would not yield to the South. It was for a time supposed that the great struggle which ended with the subjugation of the rebellious South would lead up to a change in the course of the democratic party in this respect but habit becomes a second nature and the perversity of the first nature is often confirmed by it.

A CURIOUS STUDY.

The speech made by Gov Pennoyer at The Dalles was taken down by a republican who heard it and a copy was sent to THE OREGONIAN The idea seemed to be that it wouldn't be a bad thing to let the people of the state have an opportunity to read over the governor's utterances at leisure when their irredeemable absurdities would appear in all their flatulence and emptiness But we had published one of the governor's speeches only a short time before and a paper like THE OREGONIAN, devoted to common sense cannot afford to inflict too much stuff of this kind upon its readers Some regard must be had for the intelligence and patience of the public.

Gov Pennoyer no doubt always means well; but not an utterance made by him in these speeches contains a practicable or judicious suggestion, either to the body politic or to any member of it. His excellency presents an instance of extremely curious mental malformation, curious as a freak of nature that amounts to a prodigy, and affording an almost startling suggestion, when compared with the canons of common sense, of the possible range of the whimsical, impracticable and absurd, within the accepted limits of sanity His discourse, far from contributing to illumination of any subject, only confuses counsel and darkens knowledge His theories are crude, disjointed, chaotic, and utterly without support of history or experience. One who hears him falls into amazement, wondering whether his own ears are made the fools of the other senses, or are worth more than all the rest

Yet Gov Pennoyer's oratorical efforts are comparatively harmless They may produce for the moment some confusion in untrained minds but a little reflection soon puts things to rights But what a study in mental philosophy is here! An intellectual garret stored with all these odds and ends of unassorted lumber is indeed an astonishing find to the curious in these things

GRESHAM'S DANGER

On his pre eminent merits the republican party would nominate Gresham for president He is a crippled Union soldier, a stalwart republican a man whose administrative talents have been proved by his superior management of the postoffice department he is a sound lawyer, a spotless fearless judge, who is loved by the people for the enemies he has made among the engineers of rubber trusts and wreckers of railroads, like Jay Gould But Judge Gresham is not a favorite with the professional politicians, who often manage to run the machinery of national conventions, because he is an unmanageable man, who cannot be counted upon to bind himself by any personal pledges that transcend mere stern devotion to public duty If elected president, no faction of the party could hope to run" Judge Gresham He would decide upon his duty under the law like an upright and fearless judge, and execute the law with the energy, the courage and grim resolution of a soldier of the Grant type Professional politicians have no use for such men as Judge Gresham and therefore the 'Blaine or bust' faction treat Gresham's candidacy with thinly disguised contempt Yet the 'Blaine or bust' faction may find the great West in a mood to take the party bridle in its teeth and run the party race with Gresham for a rider His nomination will be difficult while his election would be easy' It is always difficult to nominate a candidate of powerful uncompromising individuality, uncompromising honesty in times of peace when there are no enthusiasms in the air as there were in 1860-64-68-72 The convention of 1876 proved this when Morton, Blaine, Bristow, Sherman and Conkling fought each other to death with the fury of the men that sprung from the dragon's teeth that Cadmus sowed The spiritless outcome of the Cincinnati convention was President Hayes, and it may be feared that if some man of the stamp of Gresham or Sherman is not nominated 'the Blaine-or bust" faction will seek to name the child before they will permit a deliverance by the party In that case we are likely to get a feeble, plastic, colorless mediocrity that assures a spiritless campaign, but with a man like Gresham, a soldier, a patriot a jurist, an approved administrator and tried executive we could go into battle and to sure victory at the double-quick The old-time Union fifes and drums would thrill the air again for Gresham as they have not for any man since Grant the friends of honest money and sound finance trust Gresham as absolutely as they do John Sherman, the intelligent organized labor of the country honor Gresham for the promptness and vigor with which, as judge he dispossessed Jay Gould's receiver of Wabash, the sincere friends of a pure and efficient civil service remember Gresham's administration of the postoffice department and won'd have implicit confidence in him as a genuine reformer His election would be easy, but his nomination will be difficult in face of those machine politicians who always oppose and abuse a candidate they cannot expect to use as president

NON POLITICAL CHARITIES

Dr Royal and Dr. Joseph agree in the opinion that 'the Oregon state insane asylum can never be highest good so long as it is made the prey of politicians and part of the political machinery of the state" This is not only the experience of Oregon but it is the experience of Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Ohio, New York Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts Dr McDonald, the head of the hospital for the insane on Randall's island, has testified repeatedly before the courts and before the committee of the New York legislature that nearly all the abuses in the public hospitals for the insane, whether described as the cruelty of neglect or the aggressive barbarity of brutal attendants, is due to the fact that the head of the hospital is obliged to submit to the imposition of political interference The so-called "civil service examinations" of the state are so successfully worked by politicians of the place-hunting and place-distributing sort that the attendants are selected from a class of ward strikers and hummers of the most infamous and brutal antecedents Men are pressed into a service that demands humanity, patience and self-restraint who have led boisterous lives until their good name was bankrupt Wife beaters, 'discarded unjust serving men revolted tapsters and ostlers trade-fallen, tattered prodigals lately come from swine keeping, villains that march wide betwixt the legs' as if they had recently come out of shackles these are the fellows that the political distributors of party patronage force into the service of the public hospitals for the insane in New York city These are the kind of fellows that in New York and Massachusetts have been convicted not seldom of beating refractory patients breaking their ribs by knocking them down and filling heavily upon them with their knees literally kneading the life out of the poor wretches A brute, who graduated in a whisky dive where he was accustomed to beat the weak and be beaten by the strong, is not seldom made an attendant" upon the public insane by the influence and interference of local politicians Where the 'attendant" is not a brute he is not seldom so indolent, ignorant and neglectful of his duty that the patients suffer frightfully from filthy surroundings or unhealthful food Official investigations have proved that criminal abuse or neglect of the insane is not unusual in Massachusetts New York Indiana and Ohio, and if Oregon has thus far remained free from this scandal it is due more to her good luck than her wise legislation

The care of the insane of every state ought to be committed to a state commission composed of physicians of the first rank and including an able lawyer and an efficient man of business The commission should be nominated by the governor and confirmed by the legislature and should be selected without reference to politics A judge or a lawyer who summons expert medical testimony does not consider the political faith of the witness but solely his repute for professional and scientific knowledge, and the state commission of lunacy should be a non political body The superintendent of the state hospital for the insane should be nominated by the governor and confirmed by the legislature and should not be subject to removal during his term of office except by impeachment of his administration before the state commission of lunacy, who should be obliged by law to visit the asylum at least once in three months and should be required to make such visits without direct or indirect notice of their coming to the superintendent and the commission or any member of it should be authorized to visit the asylum without announcement at any and all times The care of the state insane should be as absolutely free from purely political influence as the board of management of a bank The desirable thing for the state is to secure permanent, not transient service of an able alienist as superintendent of the public insane. He should be absolutely secure from removal or any process of political "freezing out" of office except upon proof of maladministration of his professional duties presented before the state commission of lunacy sitting as a tribunal of impeachment No able and honorable medical man could afford to accept the place of superintendent upon any conditions that would imply the right of the governor to remove him to make room for a political friend The duties of the position are important, responsible and delicate in their nature, and a superintendent should be subject to removal only for professional not political reasons, and should be tried before his peers of the state lunacy commission, whose constitution should be strictly non partisan

The most conspicuous instances of cruelty and negligence in the conduct of public hospitals for the insane have taken place under democratic party rule, where there is the grossest kind of political interference in the matter of the removal and appointment of the superintendent and the nomination of his attendants, and Governor Pennoyer would only true to the traditions of his party in other states on his removal of Dr Joseph merely to make room for a democrat He had enough to make a fool all of the ordinary routine interests of the people in order to reward political friends and punish political foes but the care of the state insane ought to be absolutely secure from any interference except upon charges of malfeasance in office after the most careful investigation regularly preferred and fairly tried before a state commission of lunacy organized upon a non partisan basis The medical members should sit upon the board solely on the strength of their reputation for high professional and private character the lawyer should be selected because he is a sound lawyer and an upright man, separated from his political consequence, and the representative of practical business affairs should be judged by the same high standard Only in this way can the wards of the state be sure of humane, intelligent and upright care Only in this way can able, self respecting medical men be persuaded to undertake the superintendence of our insane for no capable physician can afford to accept a position whose life is limited by the luck of his political party

WAGES IN ENGLAND

The question of comparative wages in England and America does not fairly belong to a discussion of the tariff question, because wages are high in America and low in England for reasons that could not be affected by a high or low tariff An American workman unquestionably could live on the wages paid British workmen, if he was willing to live in the same way Leone Levi, the well known English statistician, is authority for the statement that the weekly earnings of 5 000,000 families in England (this includes earnings of all members of the respective families able to work) are $7 68. This total of $7 68 includes the average aggregate weekly earnings of all the families in England who work for a living The average earnings of the head of the family is probably from $5 to $6 per week Miss Hall in the Nineteenth Century says "I thank God that England counts among her children so many families who know how to live simply and yet nobly on thirty shillings ($7 50) per week!"

Now the difference between England and America is that while the English workman family lives on $7 50 a week because it is forced to the American working family could live on this sum but does not live on it because it is not obliged to The New York Press quotes the following figures to show that the prices of the common necessaries of life, including clothing are substantially the same in London and New York

WHAT GOODS

Of the $10 000 fund to be raised for the erection of the Starr King monument at San Francisco $863 has been subscribed Why does San Francisco put a monument over Starr King? Not because he preached the Unitarian faith eloquently from his pulpit for as a mere denomination if evangelist no monument would be erected to his memory San Francisco is prompted to put up a monument to Starr King by its grateful recollection of the fact that he left his pulpit for the dusty point of arrest and lifted his voice effectively for the Union at a time when it needed all the eloquence and unselfish courage its friends could command in California

This feeling that leads the people of San Francisco twenty years after King's death to give his memory a monument is a fine sentiment which contrasts nobly with the parsimony of New York city in the matter of the Grant monument It is the utter absence of this feeling in the composition of Grover Cleveland that makes him so indifferent to the gross impropriety of his action in selecting notorious copperheads for the highest offices in a restored Union When Cleveland was elected the New York World (dem) urged the appointment of a war democrat like McClellan or Slocum as minister to England but Cleveland sent Phelps, the defamer of Lincoln and in the same spirit he sent Pendleton Vallandigham's alter ego to Berlin and sent Cox who 'stumped' Ohio for Vallandigham for governor to Turkey The other leading foreign missions were given to the South, so that the war democracy of the North was not given a single appointment of the slightest consequence So in the matter of the supreme court the New York Herald (dem) urged the president to appoint a war" democrat, and he answered by first considering Phelps and then appointing an equally infamous 'copperhead lawyer in the shape of Fuller

It is fortunate for the fate of the monument to Starr King that the people of San Francisco are not as utterly insensible to patriotic memories, as grossly non-sympathetic with loyal conduct and capacity during the war for national preservation as Grover Cleveland. If they were the monument to Starr King would never be erected His utter insensibility to the inspiring memory of the struggle for the Union was further illustrated by the president's devoting Memorial Day to a fishing excursion The president seems to view the various "Grand" reunions with so impartial an eye that we are rather surprised he didn't send a letter of congratulation to the 'reunion of Quantrell's guerillas at Blue Springs Missouri on the 11th inst These genial persons made the peaceful city of Lawrence, Kansas a scene of plunder and cold blooded massacre August 21 1863 and at their recent jubilee they boasted of acts of cruelty before which the horrors of the San Domingo insurrection grew pale These gentlemen who included in their band Jesse and Frank James and the Younger brothers, were in the habit of shooting to death the Union sick and wounded whenever they captured a hospital train and yet to trumpet like that of Cleveland this fact would hardly cause any shock They are his constituents they all voted for him in Maryland in the last election they will all vote for him in November and we are rather surprised that the reunion of Cleveland confederates did not adopt and obtain the good wishes of our fellow-which will right executive for the future both happiness and prosperity The president could easily follow the precedent of his Albert Sydney Johnston letter

James Birney minister to The Hague under Presidents Grant and Hayes, and a son of James G Birney the liberal candidate for president in 1840 and 1844 died on the 8th at Bay City, Michigan aged 70 years James G Birney was of Kentucky birth he freed the slaves he had inherited and devoted himself to the anti slavery cause He had a large hand some imposing presence, was an able reasoner and at once a powerful and pleasing public speaker In 1840 as the candidate of the so-called liberty party" he polled but 7069 votes for president of which number New York gave him 2763 Massachusetts 1621 and Ohio 903 but in 1844 Birney obtained 62 300 votes New York giving him 15 812, Massachusetts 10 860 Ohio 8050 Birney's candidacy lost New York in the election of 1844 to Henry Clay, who had but 5556 plurality over Polk and the 15 812 votes polled for Birney were drawn chiefly from the rank of the whig party Four sons of James G Birney served in the Union army David B Birney rose to be major general of volunteers and finally to the command of the Tenth corps in the army of the James, for which position he was warmly recommended by Generals Hancock and Meade He was a soldier of superior talents who served in almost every battle of the Army of the Potomac from Fair Oaks, May 31, 1862 until Deep Bottom August 16 1864 He died of disease in October 1864 His brother, General Wm Birney commanded a brigade of colored troops in the Tenth corps and his brothers, Major Eldridge and Captain Dion Birney, died of disease while serving upon his staff in the summer of 1864 James G Birney seems all fought with the same cool courage in war that the famous father was noted for on the anti slavery platform

One of the results which Donnelly works out through his cipher is this description of Ann Hathaway She hath a pretty face and a fair complexion, with a high color and long red hair Here are particulars about Ann Hathaway never presented before and the New York Sun, using the Donnelly cipher adds others Taking up the cipher and using it exactly according to Donnelly's method, the Sun gets from Henry Fourth this important addition to the history of Shakespeare's wife. 'She sometimes rode, perforce, a costermonger's white horse' No telling what these discoveries will lead to yet

Minnesota joins Illinois in sending up to Chicago a solid delegation for Gresham Each succeeding day shows that there is more promise in Gresham than in any man yet named His nomination would be worthy of the best days of the republican party

Tariff reform is a huge issue But the first thing to do is to reject the spurious reform proposed in the Mills bill This measure is partial partisan sectional and unfair It does not propose genuine tariff reform

The residuum in the bottom of the "republican political pot" says the New York World "looks more and more like Gresham as the boiling goes on"

IN AND ABOUT PORTLAND.

THEY DREW LARGE CROWDS.—The bears purchased recently by Mr. R. E. Knight from Mr. Nitsche of Baker City, arrived here yesterday. They were in stout crates, which were placed on a vacant lot on Morrison street near Third, and attracted an immense crowd. Everybody wanted to see the bears, and the Chinese in particular insisted on poking them with sticks till the grizzly howled like a lost spirit. It was found necessary to put up ropes to keep the crowd away from the cages. The black bear was taken out of his box and chained to a post, where he attracted a bigger crowd than ever. Mr. Knight is having a big cage with iron bars in front made, ten feet long by five feet wide and four feet high, in which both bears will be placed to-day, so that everybody can see them. It is singular what an interest people of all classes and ages take in wild animals, birds, etc. The free menageries attract a crowd all day long and this should be a hint to the managers of the Industrial Fair as to what an attraction their zoological garden is likely to be.

COASTING STEAMER SOLD.—The Ilwaco Steam Navigation Company yesterday disposed of the steamers Gen. Miles and Dolphin to Jacob Kamm and others, stockholders of the company. The directors of the company came to the conclusion that it was desirable to part with these boats, and stockholders were given the preference as purchasers. So Mr. Kamm and others concluded to buy them. The Miles will continue on the Gray's harbor route, and will make trips regularly once a week as heretofore. The Dolphin will be overhauled and fitted for carrying passengers, and will run to any place requiring her services, or will run to Gray's Harbor in conjunction with the Miles if business demands it. The I. S. N. Co.'s boat Gen. Canby is now on the ways at Cashen's yard, near Jefferson street ferry, undergoing a thorough overhauling, in preparation for running in connection with the company's railroad from Ilwaco to Shoalwater bay.

LAWN TENNIS BOOM.—The Multnomah Tennis Club issued a challenge to the Vancouver Barracks Club the first of the week, for a return game. The challenge has been accepted and the game will be played at Vancouver on Saturday of next week. The club not only proposes to retrieve the loss it suffered at the hands of the barracks club last Saturday, but also proposes to have a pleasant time. The club and a limited number of guests will leave the city at 1 o'clock on the day designated, by steam launches, and will reach Vancouver in time to play the game. After the game the barracks club will provide a supper for their guests, after which the launches will start for Portland, making a nice ride on the water. It is very probable that the Victoria Tennis Club will play a series of games in this city against the Multnomahs within a few weeks. Correspondence relative to the games is now being exchanged between the two clubs.

ANTICS OF A BULL.—At a very early hour yesterday morning a bullock belonging to a band which was being driven out to a slaughter house broke away and ran down on Ash street dock. There he bumped against a fence, knocking it down, and then tumbled into the river. The drivers had a regular circus for over an hour, trying to save the beast from drowning, and after ropes had been fastened to his legs and he had been hauled around among the drift till he was thoroughly disgusted with the situation, he was pulled upon a low part of the wharf, which is covered with water. No sooner was he on his feet than he made up his mind to stay right there, evidently fearing that if he moved he would get into trouble again, and all the pulling and hauling of his rescuers failed to make him budge. He was at last made fast and left till daylight, when, being able to see what he was about, he waded ashore.

WILL MAKE A FINE DRIVE.—Street improvements are going ahead in different portions of the town, and this branch of Portland's material progress is keeping pace with the building movement, now that the spring has fairly opened. Along Seventh street's good deal of substantial work is in progress. For many years this street has been a somewhat rough and "jolty" street to drive over, in addition to having in places a sharp grade to overcome. A number of graders have been employed for some time in leveling up depressions and smoothing off elevations, and at length the street has been brought to a uniform grade. Macadam will speedily follow, and then Seventh street will be one of the favorite drives. The broken condition of the street for the block just west of the Villard hotel foundation has been graded down, new sidewalks laid and the first layer of stone was placed down yesterday.

ALLEGED BANK ROBBERS ARRESTED.—Detective Sullivan, of this city, received a dispatch from St. Louis the other day to arrest John C. Gordon, a fugitive bank robber from St. Louis, for whom a reward of $2000 was offered. He passed through Portland on Monday, but the dispatch was not received in time to apprehend him here. He was traced to Seattle, where he was arrested. He submitted quietly and acknowledged that his name was John C. Gordon, and that he was from St. Louis, but positively denied that he had ever been connected with a bank robbery, and threatened revenge for his arrest. He fits the telegraphed description of the criminal wanted exactly. When arrested he had on his person $75 in greenbacks, a ticket to Victoria and a baggage check. He refused to say where his baggage was, but an attempt is being made to locate it, in the hope of finding further evidence.

A CASE OF GABBLE.—Tuesday afternoon, a lady residing in the west end of the city started down town to make some purchases, leaving her purse, containing $125, at home, but thinking she had it with her. Upon her return home, missing her purse, she imagined she had left it in a millinery store which she had visited, and immediately went back. This implied a reflection on the integrity of a young saleswoman in the store who had waited on her. Later in the afternoon the lady discovered her purse, and made haste to revisit the store and relieve the clerk of what embarrassment she had felt. Some busybodies, who have more gab than sense or delicacy, have twisted the young lady about the affair, thinking it a fine joke, indirectly to accuse her of violating the eighth commandment, and this paragraph is published just to stop their evil tongues.

FATALLY INJURED.—Some time during Wednesday night a sailor, whose name could not be ascertained, fell from one of the trestle bridges in the northern portion of the city, and sustained what are regarded as fatal injuries. Yesterday morning at an early hour he was discovered, lying helpless, and removed to St. Vincent hospital. His injuries are of a most serious character. His collar bone is broken, his neck almost dislocated, and he is paralyzed. When found, he seemed incapable of giving any account whatever of himself, his name or the circumstances of the accident. He is a British sailor, but the vessel to which he belongs is not known. Last night at a late hour the man was conscious, but the physician has no hope of his recovery.

VERDICT FOR $25.—At 7:30 Wednesday evening, the jury in the suit of A. B. Manley vs. C. Holstetter and H. Claussenius, for $3000 damages for false and malicious arrest, brought in a sealed verdict which was opened in Judge Shattuck's court yesterday morning and found to be in favor of the plaintiff for $25. Judge Shattuck granted Manley's attorneys thirty days to move for a new trial. The first jury before which the case was tried gave Manley a verdict of $1. Mr. Manley says he is satisfied with the verdict. He says he did not want money, merely vindication in the eyes of the public, which he considers the verdict gives him, though if he had secured a larger verdict he would have been better pleased.

WILL ADDRESS INDIAN WAR VETERANS.—Hon. B. F. Dowell, who has spent the past sixteen months at Washington, pressing Indian war claims, will address Multnomah Camp No. 2, Indian war veterans, on Saturday next at 2 o'clock P. M., at the courthouse in this city. Mr. Dowell will set forth the condition of all the Indian war claims of Oregon and Washington, and the prospects of their being paid by the government.

BEAR IN MIND—That the Ærial Orchestra has been engaged to furnish music for the excursion to be given to Latourelle falls tomorrow on the Lurline, by the Sunday school of the First Taylor street M. E. church, and that plenty of first-class music, refreshments, beautiful scenery, etc., are assured to all who attend. Boat leaves foot of Taylor street at 9 A. M., sharp.

NEW FIRE HOSE DISTRIBUTED.—One thousand feet of new hose, and hose which was in good serviceable condition, has been on hand at the corporation shed for some time, and since the fire of Saturday Chief Engineer Morgan has determined to provide, as far as possible, against a possible recurrence of the annoyance and delay so conspicuous on that occasion. Within the last few days 650 feet of this hose has been distributed among several of the engine companies, which will place the department in a much better condition to cope with the destroyer. Three hundred and fifty feet of bran new hose still remains at the corporation shed awaiting a requisition.

FOR THE CASCADES ROUTE.—Last week THE OREGONIAN mentioned the fact that the steamer Multnomah had been leased by the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company and would be placed on one of the several important routes of the Columbia. Since then it has been learned that the lease is for the period of one year and that the formal transfer of the boat will be made June 1. The Multnomah will for the present be placed on the Portland-Cascades route. The Astoria route is well supplied with excellent boats, but the company did not have at its disposal such a steamer as was desirable to ply between this city and the Cascades, and hence the leasing of the Multnomah.

THE TELEPHONE'S FIRST TRIP.—The initial trip of the new Telephone will be made tomorrow, leaving Alder street at 7 o'clock A. M., and and returning by 10 P. M. or the same day. Local inspectors Ferguson and McDermott performed their usual duties yesterday and found the boat complete, and remarked that the new craft was all that could be wished for. Capt. Scott and his associates should feel proud of the vessel. On the round-trip days (Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Saturdays) two hours will be allowed at Astoria. The reputation sustained by the old favorite will be maintained by the Telephone No. 2. The time-table is published in another column.

GRASSLESS PLAZAS.—The plaza blocks are now in a fine state of filth, spaded, manured, raked and rolled till the clods are pulverized and the surface as level as a floor. But just when they will be looking green and in condition to lie down on again is not known. Probably seed may be made to grow there this season if sufficient water is used, but the prospect seems good for the plazas to maintain their summer fallow appearance all summer. Loungers, however, patronize the old, dilapidated settees, and dig their heels into the dirt as they ruminate on the tariff bill and the administration's interference in Oregon politics.

MISSING PRINTER HEARD FROM.—George D. Sprake, the printer who so mysteriously disappeared from this city about a month since, has been heard from. He is in Victoria, and was not shanghaied nor murdered, nor anything of the sort. He just went away without letting anyone know that he was going. The members of the printing fraternity here, who spent some time and money in searching for his remains, feel relieved. In his letter to President Humphrey of the Typographical Union Mr. Sprake offers no explanation of his eccentric style of leaving.

MONGOLIAN PHEASANTS.—Barbed wire fences are charged with many offenses, among others that of killing Mongolian pheasants, which are protected from the sportsman by law. Mounted skins of these handsome birds are getting quite common in some localities, and the specimen was in most cases found by a barbed wire fence. These pheasants are numerous near Albany, and Mr. Monteith of that city reports that a few days since he saw fourteen young ones following an old hen which had found them and adopted them.

VANDALS IN THE PARK.—Parkkeeper C. M. Myers yesterday arrested three young men who claimed to be Swedes and gave the names of D. Walbo, L. Koderner and M. Madison, for tramping across the flower beds and plucking flowers in the City park. They gave bail in the sum of $5 each for their appearance in the police court this morning to answer to the charge. There are numbers of hoodlums who visit the City park and imagine that they can do as they please out there and the sooner they are taught that they must behave themselves the better.

MAY SHUT OFF THE ELEVATORS.—The owners of buildings furnished with elevators look upon the price which the water committee give notice that they intend to charge for water as prohibitory of the use of elevators, and intimate that they will stop their elevators on the first of the month. "Such a getting upstairs you never did see" will occur if this threat is put in force. One elevator, it is said, will cost the proprietor $300 per month under the new rates for water.

VISITING SPEAKER.—Hon. John F. Swift, of California, who is stumping the state in the interest of the republican party, arrived yesterday morning from Southern Oregon and left on the afternoon train for Baker City, where he will speak to-morrow. Mr. Swift has been ill for several days and has not been on the stump since he addressed the Ashland people Monday. He was much better and is determined to keep up with the procession.

A FINE DAY'S SPORT.—H. T. Hudson and R. R. McGregor started to Oregon City at 5 A. M. yesterday, returning at 9:30 with about a dozen salmon, the largest being a Chinook weighing twenty-seven and a half pounds, which was landed by Hudson after a struggle of thirty minutes. A spoon hook was used. Each fisherman lost a number of hooks in unsuccessful efforts to land big fellows.

ADDITION TO THE MECHANICS' FAIR.—The addition to the north annex of the Mechanics' fair building, by putting on a second story makes a great improvement in the building. The north annex is now all boarded with rustic which gives it a more substantial and finished appearance. The extra story will afford considerable more space for exhibition purposes.

OUT OF DANGER.—Chief of Police S. B. Parrish, who has been confined to his house for some days with a very slight apoplectic stroke, is reported to be convalescing very rapidly. The attending physician expresses the opinion that Parrish is out of danger, though he says that the chief must take a little rest in the country before he resumes his official duties.

WILL NOT MISS AN ISSUE.—Mr. C. S. Rinehart, of the Goldendale Sentinel, is in the city. He got out his regular edition yesterday at The Dalles, and purchased and shipped in this city a new outfit, with which he expects to get out the paper next week and so avoid missing an issue.

WE LEAD—But do not follow. Davies is still turning out his usual first-class work; does not pretend to be as cheap as the cheapest, but his work is first-class in every particular, and no humbug. Gallery, corner First and Taylor.

FREIGHT PER TELEPHONE.—Office of the company, foot of Alder street; open to-day.

COMMERCIAL.

THURSDAY, May 17.

Merchandise received or soon to arrive by rail: Car organs, 3 cars implements, car spring wagons, car farm engines, car mowers, 17 hxs 749 bdls chairs, 230 bdls iron pipe, car binder twine, 60 bdls linseed oil, 823 cs corn, 278 hxs lemons, 5 cs cheese, 10 cs cocoa, 1 hf 9 bbls salt fish, 24 bdls ox bows, 20 bdls spades, 97 pkgs axes, 34 pkgs elbows, 3 cs hosiery, 9 cs yarn, 25 cs boots and shoes, 27 bdls newspaper.

The Br bk Forfarshire has been ordered to proceed to the Sound for orders.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours include 316 bbls flour, 200 ctls oats, 88 sks potatoes, 40 lbs wool, 351 lbs hides, 22 pkgs butter, 133 cs eggs, 4 cs dried fruit, car oranges.

FREIGHTS—The county of Merioneth, Iron, came in early in the week with prior grain business, foreign account. Sailings were Evelyn with flour and Thurland Castle and Aigburth with wheat. On spot the Sea King, wood, secured grain business at understood rate of 32s 6d for orders. This transaction indicates new strength in freights and certainly the whole situation is favorable to owners. On spot and available are two vessels, one iron, while the close at hand list is a small one.

REGISTERED TONNAGE STATEMENT.

In port—For grain loading	6,484
Iron disengaged	855
Composite disengaged	1,238— 8,577
On way—Due May	3,428
Due later on	9,364—12,792

WHEAT—Receipts for the week 622 tons of valley and 3103 tons of Walla Walla, as compared with 60 and 1633 tons respectively the preceding week. The increase in valley is due to the receipt of east side wheat for San Francisco on sold sale account. There has been a new desire shown to get Walla Walla here, and some selling has been reported. Trade throughout shows no activity but the transactions of the week aggregate more than in any similar period for some time past. The mills have taken a fair quantity of valley in the interior, buying on a basis of $1 25 here. This is about what the market will stand for domestic shipment, but there is little doing to that end. Exporters are now getting no valley and it cannot be sent foreign in the present condition of freights and the cargoes market. Walla Walla here sold early in the week at something less than $1 17½, but at the close $1 17½ is being bid by some. The milling figure is reported to be 73c in the interior, or $1 16½ here and this is credited with having bought. Holders generally are not willing to accept prices now obtainable, but appear to hold no extreme ideas. The cargoes market has favored wheat, while freights are certainly higher, so that the real gain to the seller or exporter is immaterial. The outlook for export business decidedly favors a dull movement, both because of market conditions and tonnage supply. Only the vessels headed this way with cargoes are expected to be available, and the list is small enough to easily keep up rates, the outlook favoring the owner rather than charterer.

POTATOES—While the receipt is a small one there is no lack of supply, dealers having quite a stock. They now buy some at 35@40c per sack. New California sell at 2½c, and this figure helps the call for old Oregon.

ONIONS—New stock selling out at 2c, very little old being obtainable and none arriving.

VEGETABLES—Good call and importations selling quickly. Prices are about unchanged. Quote cabbage at 2½c, celery 35c, cauliflower $1 25, green peas 6c, asparagus 6c, lettuce 25c, string beans 10c, cucumbers $1.

POULTRY—Chickens have fallen away some in price because of an increased supply, yet good prices have been realized and the market is in good tone, closing at $5@6. Ducks have sold about steady at $6@8; geese bringing old prices of $7@8. Turkeys bring 16@20c, as to condition.

EGGS—At times during the week the market has wavered and it seemed that prices would have to give way. Outside demands increased enough at such times to require the surplus and a break was avoided. Receipts are now liberal and there is stock, but it is thought the market will be held about steady.

THE MEAT MARKET.

Beef rules firm, grass-fed offering in no quantity. Live quoted 4@4½c, dressed 8c. Mutton rules weak at 3½c for live and 7c dressed, offerings being fully even with the call. Lambs bring $2@2 25. Veal has been in full supply and rather weak at 7@8c. Dressed hogs steady at 7@7½c.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, May 17.—The stock market was, up to 2 o'clock, intensely dull and almost without a feature of any kind; but after that time was weak and fairly active, finally closing at material concessions from last evening's prices. The opening was quiet, the irregular changes from last night's figures, and while there was an inclination to weakness in early trading upon selling by traders, it soon recovered again and began to advance. Almost everything is lower to-night, the few advances being for insignificant fractions only.

Government bonds were dull and firm.

CURE OF [illegible]

Judge T. C. McLendon writes to the Swift Specific Co., Atlanta, Ga., under date of February 14, 1883: "About three years ago, Jerry Bradley, a colored man, had a cancerous sore on his face, near the right eye. It caused him a great deal of pain, and he lost the sight of the eye, but was finally cured of the cancer by the use of Swift's Specific. This case is well known in Wells Co., Ga., where he lived (near Danbury), and of this case, I, myself, had personal knowledge."

Mr. L. Cox, of Arkadutla, Tate Co., Miss., writes, February 26, 1886: "I suffered a great deal from old ulcers for six years. Your medicine was recommended to me, and after using six bottles, I was completely cured. I never saw its equal as a Blood Purifier. My neighbors will use no other. Your medicine does even more than you claim for it. I have known it to cure cases which were thought to be hopeless. It is the best medicine made."

Mrs. A. M. Goldsmith, No. 674 Warren St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes, February 22, 1886: "I commenced using S. S. S. about three years ago. I had suffered with a sore throat for over a year, when I commenced using your remedy. I used a great many other remedies with no good results. My little girl, also, had sore fingers; it commenced from the quicks, and then the nails would come off. We doctored her for over two years, and when I commenced using S. S. S. I thought I would see what it would do for her. I am thankful to say that it entirely cured her. It is the best remedy I know of for the blood. I really believe it was the means of saving my life. The doctor told me I had a form of disease similar to General Grant's. I cheerfully recommend it to all suffering from discolored blood. I use it now as a tonic when ever I think I need it."

Mr. B. F. George, Milford P. O., Ellis Co., Texas, writes: "I had a cancerous wart or mole on my cheek, as large as the end of my thumb, which had the appearance of cancer, causing me much pain and inflammation, from which I suffered a long time. Seeing the S. S. S. advertised I commenced using it, and after the use of a few bottles the sore dropped out, my cancer was gone, and I was entirely relieved."

Mr. G. W. Pattis, of Alvin, S. C., writes: "I was a sufferer from cancer of the breast, and had been under the treatment of three physicians, but it did me no good. It was so bad that I had to stop work. After taking a couple of S. S. S. I was entirely cured."

LOST MANHOOD RESTORED

[illegible]

Wonderful GERMAN

HEALTH Invigorator.

THE OLDEST, GREATEST AND BEST REMEDY for the cure of Nervous and Physical Debility, Vital Exhaustion, Seminal Weakness, Loss of Manhood, Failing Memory, and Relaxed and Enfeebled Condition of the Genito-Urinary Organs.

It speedily cures Impotence, Early Decay, Loss of Vigor, SEMINAL WEAKNESS, and all the sad effects of youthful follies and abuse, or EXCESSES OF MATURITY.

It permanently prevents all unnatural loss from the system, as thousands can attest who have used the Remedy in the past quarter of a century (which has been before the public).

It is indeed a wonderful remedy—toning the nerves, strengthening the muscles, checking the waste, invigorating the whole system, and restoring the afflicted to HEALTH AND HAPPINESS.

The reason so many cannot be cured of Weakness and the above diseases is owing to complication called PROSTATORRHEA with Hypersthesia, which requires special treatment.

DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2, with one peculiar special treatment, is the only possible cure for PROSTATORRHEA. By it MANHOOD is restored and the band of time moved back from age to youth. Price of No. 1, $5 per box; No. 2, $10. Case of six bottles, $10. Sent to any address covered securely from observation.

Dr. Liebig & Co. treat successfully by Homeopathy all forms of SPECIAL, PRIVATE or CHRONIC DISEASES without mercury or nauseous drugs. If vitality is drained from the body, numerous diseases follow that baffle ordinary medical treatment. If allowed to continue, the natural loss ensues. Consumption, Diabetes, Bright's Disease, Insanity, etc., Cures guaranteed. Diseases of the Genito-Urinary organs, kidneys, liver and bladder specially treated. DISEASES OF WOMEN SPEEDILY CURED.

Qualified and Responsible.—Dr. Liebig & Co., from Europe, are regular college educated physicians, and are now in their nineteenth year of special practice.

If pimples appear on the face and body, if you become listless and easily tired and exhausted, look out for the complication with Seminal Weakness, discovered at the LIEBIG DISPENSARY, known as Prostatorrhea. DR. LIEBIG'S INVIGORATOR No. 2 is the only known remedy for the above complication, Prostatorrhea.

The committee may have overlooked a number of persons and there may be people in the country who would like to contribute. Any amounts left with THE OREGONIAN will be turned over to the board of trade.

The O. R. & N. Co. have offered to transport any supplies for the Goldendale sufferers free. General Manager Holcomb has issued orders to the agent here to "dead-head" all shipments; so any one desiring to send provisions, has only to deliver them to Ainsworth wharf. No special order is required.

BOOM IN THEATRICALS, TOO.

Combination of Managers for the Northwest Circuit—New Opera House.

Mr. R. C. Hudson, of Hudson & O'Neil, who have been the managers of Frederick Warde for the past two seasons, arrived here yesterday from California. Manager Howe arrived here from Spokane Falls. It was not a coincidence, but the result of correspondence looking toward a joint management of the Northwest theatrical circuit. They arranged preliminaries, and hereafter they will be equal partners in the management. Not the least feature of this combination will be a fine opera house in this city. Particulars cannot be made public yet, but it may be said that a handsome building will be erected with private capital, and no one will be asked to give one cent as a bonus to the enterprise. Mr. J. M. Wood, a well-known theatre architect, now building a large theatre in Los Angeles, is preparing plans for the proposed new opera house here, and will come to Portland in about two weeks.

Mr. Hudson is a genial gentleman and every one here will like him. To use slang, he "got stuck" on Oregon when he came here with Warde two years ago, and looked forward to this state as a permanent home when he got tired of traveling. He has made enough money with Warde to retire from "the road," and intends to devote his summer months to raisin' taters and fruit. Recently he bought a farm of 160 acres near Drain, Douglas county, and will establish a theatrical and operatic colony around him. He has been commissioned to buy land for Jennie Winston, Genevieve Reynolds, Joseph E. Grismer and wife, Laura Bellini, Hart Conway and wife, (Alice Brooks,) Kate Meek and her son, Fred Meek, and Walter H. Edwards. Mr. Hudson left for Drain yesterday afternoon.

PRESENTED WITH A CANE.

The Ancient Order of Hibernians Compliment Rev. Father Gibney.

Last evening a very enjoyable affair took place at the hall of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, given under the auspices of that organization. A number of ladies were present. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Joseph A. Hughes, who stated in his opening remarks that the members of the order and their friends had assembled for the purpose of presenting one of their honored members, the Rev. F. P. Gibney, a substantial token of their love and esteem. He then called upon Mr. J. J. Byrne, the state delegate, who, he said, would speak. Mr. Byrne arose and presented Father Gibney with a magnificent gold-headed cane, accompanying the handsome gift with a few very appropriate words. The cane was presented on behalf of the members of the A. O. H. It bore the following inscription: "Presented to Rev. F. P. Gibney by the members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Portland, May 17, 1888."

The gift was accepted by the recipient, who made a most fitting and gracious response. The cane cost about $70.

Following the presentation came several musical selections. Songs were rendered by Miss Hanley, Miss Cassie Neal and others.

The hall was cleared and dancing indulged in for several hours. About midnight a bountiful lunch was served in the hall.

THEY WANT LICENSE FEES RETURNED.

County Saloon Keepers Petition the County Court for a Large Sum.

During the session of the legislature of 1885 an act was passed entitled: "An act to regulate the sale of spirituous, malt and vinous liquors." Better known as the "Knudy law." The act provided that all retail dealers in liquor doing business outside of the corporate limits of any city or town in this state should pay an annual license of $500, while dealers in the same goods within the corporate limits of any city or town in the state be taxed $100 only per year.

On January 19, 1887, in the case of the state against Wright and others, the Oregon supreme court declared the act unconstitutional.

Now, A. Stoldt, T. P. Cline, Curtin & Murphy, J. G. Schatz, S. Straur, G. Schmid, A. Johnston, John Brendle, J. H. Steffan and others, retail liquor dealers, have presented a petition to the county court, asking that the amount in license they paid into the county treasury, in excess of the legal tax, be refunded to them. The matter will be heard in the early part of June. The sum petitioners ask for aggregates several thousands of dollars.

Moore's Revealed Remedy is not recommended on the strength of its peculiar discovery, but on its own merits. As a curative power it is fast proving to be the marvel of the age.

THE RAILWAY BRIDGE.

Cars to be Crossing Within Thirty Days—The Corrugated Iron Floor.

Sixty men are now engaged on the new railroad bridge, and a visit to the site of that splendid and substantial improvement yesday, disclosed a very busy scene to the reporter. At 1 o'clock, the men succeeded in hoisting into position—just over the massive central pier—that piece of portable false work, technically known in the parlance of bridge construction as the "Traveler" or "Traveling erector." Work will commence at once in putting up the superstructure of the draw-swing. The bottom chord is completed, and nothing remains to be done now but to hoist the various sections of the upper works

All the material required to complete the bridge has arrived. Work on the east and west approaches will be commenced in a few days. The necessary piles have been ordered, and will be delivered about May 22, and the driving for the trestle will begin without delay. Ten days, it is estimated, will be required, with the present force, to complete the draw-swing. Trains, it is confidently expected, will be crossing by June 15, if not a few days earlier. The false work under the eastern span, now completed, will probably not be torn out until after the subsidence of the June freshet. Already the water has risen so as to render it impracticable to unfasten the bolts by which many of the cross timbers are secured to the piling. As soon as the water recedes, and these bolts loosened, the whole work will be pulled out by a steamer.

This is the only bridge in America where what is known as the "corrugated street floor" is used. By means of this system the overcoming of more than three feet of the grade of the bridge is obviated. On each side of the river the track is just level with the surface of the water at the very highest stage. The floor of the bridge, of course, must be above that point. In building the structure, allowance was made for this, and the floor was placed two and a half feet higher than the extreme point ever reached yet by the river. The two and a half feet difference in grade between the approaches and the track on the bridge is easily overcome. Had not the corrugated floor been used, it would have been necessary to place the track some five feet above the extreme high water mark, thus necessitating the overcoming of about five feet more grade than under the present arrangements. Instead of having to overcome a grade amounting to forty feet to the mile, a grade of 125 feet to the mile would have to be overcome. This, of course, is a great advantage with heavily loaded trains.

Two stonemasons are now engaged in chiseling out a smooth groove all round the central pier, near the top and just below the iron track on which rests the system of wheels that support the gearing and the enormous weight of the drawswing. This groove will constitute the base or foundation for a circular coffer-dam. All round the stone pier a perfectly compact, watertight compartment will be built. This coffer-dam will be made of iron and the seams closed with rubber lining. The lower edge of the rim will rest upon and clasp the top of the stone pier, and the compartment will extend up several feet so as to be above high water. The advantage is this coffer-dam will shield all the revolving gear from the invasion of the water during high stages. Otherwise everything would be submerged and the water would corrode the machinery. Protected by this circular bulkhead, the gearing can be kept clean and dry, and should any obstruction get in the wheels it can easily be dislodged.

A FRIEND OF MELVILLE W. FULLER.

Interview with a Chicago Man who Knows Him Intimately.

Among the arrivals at the Esmond yesterday were Mr. E. T. Watkins and wife of Chicago. Mr. Watkins went to Chicago in 1848, when it had less than 14,000 people, and has seen it grow to the big city it is. He had been engaged in the railroad, gas and banking business for a number of years and retired two years ago. Speaking of the wonderful growth of Chicago, which he attributed to the natural position of the city, he said that never a dollar was spent to induce a railroad or an immigrant to come. Chicago was built up on its merits alone. Twenty-six railroads now center there and more are knocking at the door.

Mr. Watkins met Black Hawk, the Sac Indian who led the massacre at Fort Dearborn (Chicago) in 1832. He was an intimate acquaintance of Abraham Lincoln, Stephen A. Douglas, John A. Logan, Gen. Sheridan, Gen. Terry, Gen. Schofield and lastly of Melville W. Fuller, whom President Cleveland recently appointed chief justice of the United States supreme court. Speaking of Mr. Fuller, Mr. Watkins said:

I have known him for many years. He is a democrat and I am a republican. I think President Cleveland made a first-class appointment and that a better one could not have been made. He is a man of 55 and professionally stands as well at the bar as any in our city. In fact he is one of the leading jurists of the state and ranks with the best in the country. He is competent and will make a good chief justice. I have read the alleged war record of Mr. Fuller. I don't think there is a word of truth in it. I have never heard of the charges in all the years of my intimate acquaintance with him. He was practicing law in Chicago when the war broke out. I don't know how his sympathies were in the war, so far as Mr. Fuller and I are concerned, we are diametrically opposed in point of politics. I was a friend of Lincoln, and was one of the first to meet him after his nomination for the presidency. I was also with him in Washington after the battle of Bull Run.

"What has become of your anarchists?" the reporter asked.

"Anarchy seems to have been pretty well wiped out of Chicago. The anarchists are just as quiet as lambs. In my opinion the execution of the Haymarket murderers last November was the greatest thing ever done in this country. The rest of them behaved very differently after that. Had Gov. Oglesby pardoned them or commuted their sentences, the anarchists would have taken it as evidence of their power and would have been worse than ever. They are now very quiet and weak and disorganized.

NOTABLE REAL ESTATE PURCHASES.

A Southern Man of National Reputation Buys Property Here.

A day or two since an item was published stating that Gen. G. T. Beauregard, of New Orleans, the well known Confederate officer, had made an investment in Portland real estate. Some persons were inclined to think that this was an enthusiastic real estate man's fable, invented for business purposes, and thought it very highly improbable that any man would buy real estate without first seeing the property and its surroundings. Yet the item is true. Gen. Beauregard has bought $16,000 worth of real estate here—a half block in the west part of the city, and two blocks in East Portland, and furthermore he has paid half down.

The sales were made through Messrs. Howard & Flower of this city. Gen. Howard was a commander of Gen. Beauregard during the rebellion and they have been personal friends for nearly a third of a century. It was upon the representations of the firm as to Portland's present position and future prospects that Gen. Beauregard made the investment, which promises to be followed by others from Louisiana capitalists. When a man at 3000 miles distance, seeks to put money into a city he has never seen, it looks as if Portland was beginning to be appreciated.

THE PROPOSED OIL MILL.

Advices from the East Necessitate a Change in the Plan for Building.

Mr. H. J. Corbett, who went East some days ago on business connected with the new oil mill enterprise, telegraped yesterday that he will return to Portland very soon, probably arriving here Sunday. Though not positively stated in his telegrams, it is quite probable that before leaving for home he will make all necessary arrangements for the purchase of the machinery. A short time ago plans and specification were prepared for the proposed building, but from late news received from Mr. Corbett it seems that some modifications to the original plan will be required. These modifications, although not specified, will involve the construction of two buildings instead of one. According to the first plan, it was the purpose of the company to use the lower portion of the building for a storehouse for the raw material. It is quite likely that two buildings will be constructed, one for the machinery and the other for the storage of the seed.

No further action will be taken until the return of Mr. Corbett from the East. Already the ground has been purchased and the necessary papers of transfer are being made out. For certain specified reasons the purchase price is not to be given for the present. The ground is admirably located with reference to transportation facilities, being convenient both to a railroad line and to navigation. A number of advantageous offers were made to the company, so far as the question of price was concerned, but there was the lack of easy and cheap transportation facilities. It is understood that an offer was made by certain property owners in East Portland to donate a piece of ground to the company providing the oil mill should be built upon it. However, the consideration of being located convenient to channels of traffic outweighed any other inducement.

As yet there has been no permanent organization. Soon after Mr. Corbett's return there will be an official meeting of the stockholders, when a board of directors will be chosen and regular officers elected. Just as soon as preliminaries are arranged the enterprise will assume more tangible proportions and active steps will be taken.

STIMULATING THE PRODUCTION OF FLAX.

The first statement published in THE OREGONIAN a few days since concerning the incorporation of a company to engage in the manufacture of linseed oil has had the effect of causing many persons to make inquiries about the cultivation of flax for seed to supply the mill. It is more than likely that some fields of flax will be sown for this purpose this season. There are plenty of farmers, especially in the Palouse region, who will engage in raising flax next season, and there will be no trouble in securing a full supply for the mill. Should the crop at any time prove short or the price too high the company can buy Calcutta seed here, but there is little likelihood of this being necessary. The consumption of flax is greatly increased, probably doubled, since the scheme of starting oil mills was agitated a few years since, and the company will find an ample and growing market for their oil. The making of good linseed oil here will be a great benefit to the community, as a large portion of the cheap oils imported and used here are adulterated, as many who have had painting done know to their sorrow.

PREPARING FOR THE TOURNAMENT.

Two Thousand Dollars to be Offered in Prizes—A Silver Trumpet.

A meeting of the board of directors of the Northwestern Firemen's Association was held in the rooms of the Portland Volunteer Firemen's Association yesterday afternoon. The directors present were: G. Kellogg, of Seattle: J. Hoffman, of Albany, and P. W. Weeks, of Astoria.

The finance committee reported that they would raise $2000 for tournament purposes, which will be offered as prizes as follows:

Championship race—First prize, $300 and trumpet valued at $125, presented by Mayor van B. DeLashmutt; second prize, $150; third prize, $100.

Wet test—First prize, $200 and a trumpet presented by the Exempt Firemen's Association; second prize, $150; third prize, $100.

Dry test—First prize, $200; second prize, $100.

Speed race—First prize, $100; second prize, $50.

Hook and ladder contest—First prize, $225; second, $100.

Tender contest—First prize, $75; second, $25.

The board of directors notified the committee of arrangements that at least thirteen competing teams, aggregating 175 firemen, will take part in the tournament.

THE TOURNAMENT FUND.

The committee appointed to solicit funds for the tournament have met with encouragement. They retired temporarily from the field, so as not to interfere with the collection of funds for the sufferers by the Goldendale fire. They will begin again soon. Every city which sends a team will also send a crowd of friends to accompany them and probably 3000 or 4000 visitors will be drawn here to see the sport. Citizens, therefore, should subscribe liberally to the fund.

MAYOR DELASHMUTT'S GIFT.

Mayor DeLashmutt has ordered a handsome silver fireman's trumpet, the finest that can be had, which he intends to offer as a prize for the victors in the championship race at the coming tournament. The mayor will probably have the trumpet made from silver from the Sierra Nevada or one of the other mines at Coeur d'Alene in which he is interested. The winners of the trumpet will no doubt feel very proud of it, but they must remember that silver is soon to be so common when the Coeur d'Alene mines get running full blast that farmers will have their dinner horns made of it and next harvest the threshing crews throughout the state will be called up to three kinds of pie three times a day, with these silvery-toned instruments.

THE I. O. O. F. GRAND LODGE.

A Case of Expulsion Reversed—The Next Grand Lodge at McMinnville.

The grand lodge met pursuant to adjournment at 10 A. M., officers and a quorum of representatives present.

The committee on credentials reported Representative George W. Barnes, P. G. of No. 52, and C. S. Perrin, P. G. of No. 81, entitled to seats.

The committee on appeals submitted a report on the case of J. J. Stanley, of Silver Lake lodge, expelled upon charges of conduct unbecoming an Odd Fellow. They reported that in their opinion the testimony did not show any offense against the laws of the order, and therefore recommended that the action of the lodge be reversed and the charges dismissed.

Several other appeal cases are under consideration.

On the question as to whether an Odd Fellow could join an institution known as the Liberal Secular Union, a committee reported that an Odd Fellow should not sign any creed which denies the existence of a Supreme Being; adopted.

The committee on Rebekah degree reported in favor of allowing Rebekahs the privilege of taxing themselves 25 cents per capita if they desired; adopted.

A vote was taken as to where the next meeting of the grand lodge should be held, and it was decided to hold it at McMinnville.

An invitation to visit the session of Minerva lodge, No. 19, was accepted.

The time for election of officers was fixed for 10 o'clock Friday.

CORPORAL TANNER IS HERE.

The Man Who Lost Both Legs Stopping a Rebel Shell.

He Will Speak on Politics Saturday Night—He Thinks Blaine Will be Nominated—An Interview.

There are very few men who have not heard of Corporal James Tanner, of Brooklyn, N. Y. As a political speaker he ranks among the best, which all who have heard him will testify. He arrived here last evening over the Northern Pacific and is at the Esmond. During the evening he attended a meeting of Lincoln post, No. 4, G. A. R., and had a pleasant time.

Corporal Tanner is a well-built, pleasant-faced man, on whose hair the frosts of forty-four winters have touched rather lightly. He was born in Richmondville, N. Y., April 4, 1844. He was a farmer's boy and taught school when quite young. When the war broke out he was 17 years old and in September, 1861, enlisted in the Eighty-seventh regiment, New York volunteers. He went through the Peninsula campaign, was in Phil. Kearney's division, was at the siege of Yorktown, at the battle of Williamsburg, at the battle of Fair Oaks, took part in the seven days' fight before Richmond, was in the battles of Gaines' Mill and Malvern hill, in the three or four days' intermittent fighting at Manassas, Bristow and Catletts, and in the second fight of Bull Run, were, to use his own words, he stopped a piece of shell, at the cost of both legs. He was deputy collector of the port of New York under President Arthur, which position he resigned in 1887, upon being appointed city collector of taxes of Brooklyn. He held this position until two years ago last January, when, to use his own words again, "the democracy got control of the city government and turned over the office to a man who, while we were at the front, was an earnest opposer of such an unholy thing as war." Corporal Tanner has taken a great deal of interest in G. A. R. matters, and has twice been at the head of the department of New York. He is a member of the national committee on pensions of the G. A. R.

When an OREGONIAN reporter sent up his card last evening, Corporal Tanner was entertaining Chairman Barin, of the republican state committee, who, hearing of his arrival, was trying to induce him to remain here and make a speech.

"There, now, don't pull your note book on a poor fellow right away," said Corporal Tanner to the reporter, who was preparing for work.

"How did you enjoy your trip across the continent?" was asked.

"I had a splendid trip. When I started out I had a dread of striking a desert, but the only approach to one was at Wallula. I have for some time belonged to that body of respectable tramps known as lecturers. I am troubled with insomnia and manage to get but little sleep. I attended the Grand Army encampment at San Francisco two years ago, and while on the coast suffered fifty per cent. less pain. I am out here to eat, sleep and breathe the air. I already feel better, and who would not in this beautiful country?"

"Have you any plans?"

"I have promised to speak in this city Saturday night on political questions. My plan is to get to San Francisco in time to join the California delegation bound for Chicago."

"What do you think of the political outlook in the East?"

"I consider the political outlook extremely favorable to the product of the Chicago convention."

"Whom do you believe will be the nominee of the party?"

"Gresham is developing a good deal of strength in the West. To answer your question directly, I expect to sit in the convention and see the different delegations vote for their favorite sons, and I expect to hear some man say in response to his name, 'James G. Blaine.' In short, I expect to see Mr. Blaine nominated. It is in the air; it is a ground swell. I say frankly that I am in no sense a Blaineaic. I was a Conklingite and I never got over it. I was a stalwart, and never attempted to get over it. I am one of the fellows who believed that the third term of Grant was better than the first term of any one else that could be nominated and I never got over that. I have no personal acquaintance with Mr. Blaine, though I have had many opportunities; but I recognize the immense intellectuality of the man and his excellent fighting qualities. Some one must fittingly called attention to the fact that after Blaine's defeat four years ago, he a private citizen of the country was presumably according to the history of American politics, a dead politician. In response to the request of his friends and neighbors at Augusta, Me., he came out one night to give his views on the Irish question and its relation to British politics; and that speech made way up in Augusta, called the premier of the British government to his feet. There's food for thought in that. The president of the United States sends his message to congress, practically advocating free trade, and through the energy of one American newspaper Mr. Blaine is interviewed in Paris the next day. The day following the American public read his expression on the question of free trade vs protection, and the verdict of all intelligent—I will not say all, but most—intelligent, fair minded men was that he was knocked out in the first round. I don't know whether I have stated it clearly enough to show that Mr. Cleveland was knocked out in the first round, but you can dish it up in that way."

"Has the forthcoming Oregon election any bearing in national politics?"

"There's one thing that the republican party in Oregon and the friends of protection, irrespective of party ought to bear most prominently in mind, and in my humble opinion one which THE OREGONIAN, great as it is, could do no better than keep reminding them of. It is the fact that Oregon stands to-day as the outer fortress of protection. If you men go to sleep here; if the voting population of Oregon is venal; venal enough to permit the democracy to buy sufficient votes to carry the state the democracy will take advantage of your sleepishness and buy votes and shout 'Here's a great triumph for free trade principles.'"

"What do you think of Gen. Ingalls's attack on Gen. Hancock in the United States senate?"

"I think this; that in the sense in which it was accepted by the democratic press it was a slip of the tongue and that Ingalls never for a moment intended to assail Hancock on his character as a soldier. In my opinion he referred exclusively to Hancock's famous New Orleans order and to his alliance with that portion of the late confederacy which controlled the democratic national convention of 1880. Ingalls's mistake was in not rising as soon as his attention was called to the matter and making an explanation. He is certainly one of the finest men in the country and no man certainly, of the most ordinary intelligence could for a moment entertain the idea that Winfield Scott Hancock was anything but a splendid specimen of the American patriot and soldier. I am glad to see the democrats so tender in regard to the memory of the Union soldier. Give them all the credit that can possibly be piled upon them. They were a long time in reaching that stage of feeling and it only attacks them now at unremitted periods."

A NEW BENEVOLENT ORDER.—R. N. Davenport of Driscoll, Dakota, deputy supreme president of the National Union, is in the city for the purpose of establishing a council of that order here. He has already obtained thirty-three names as charter members and the council will be organized on Thursday of next week. The National Union is a benevolent order and for the purpose of life insurance, very similar to the A. O. U. W. In the East the order is very popular, in Chicago alone there being twenty-three councils, and in Washington City twelve.

THE ILWACO RAILROAD.—Mr. L. A. Loomis, of Ilwaco, who was in the city yesterday, says that work on the North Beach railroad is progressing rapidly. The line is graded to the marsh, one mile and a half from Ilwaco. Wednesday work was commenced on the 3000-foot trestle at Ilwaco. It is expected to finish the line to the beach in two weeks. A wagon road is being built alongside the railroad. One hundred and twenty men are employed.

PAPER FOR TILLAMOOK.—Material was purchased yesterday by C. E. Wilson & Co. to start the Tillamook Headlight, with J. B. Edwards as editor. The paper is to be published at the town of Tillamook, independent in politics, and will be devoted exclusively and entirely in the interests of Tillamook county. The first issue will appear May 31.

MORE FROM THE NEW COAL FIELDS.

The Country Full Of Prospectors—New Road Opened.

Mr. Wm. McLeod, of Dilley, Washington county, is in the city, on his way home from Oregon City, where he went to file upon a coal claim in the Nehalem district. Some ten or twelve claims have been entered at the land office within the last forty-eight hours, most of them by citizens of Washington county. Mr. McLeod's party went into the "mines" by way of Manning creek, and came out via Quick's mill. The latter route is the better one, though this party's wagon was the first on the road this season, and they were under the necessity of chopping away a large number of fallen trees. The woods are full of prospectors, and every other man is a prospective millionaire.

Mr. McLeod is of the opinion that the question of quantity has been pretty well settled, and now all that remains to be determined is the quality of the strike. The people in there understand that nothing can be realized without the aid of capital—to work the veins and build a railroad.

This party will send men in immediately, with tools and other appliances, for the purpose of exploiting their claims.

MORE BIG FINDS.

HILLSBORO, May 17.—Messrs. Suppington, T. B. Handley and parties are just in from the new coal fields and report finding a new vein some fifteen miles further north, near the headquarters of Rock creek, and report these ledges varying from seven to ten feet. They went to-day to Oregon City to file on these claims.

Mr. Handley and party also found a quartz ledge containing what they supposed to be silver-bearing quartz, and brought samples to this city to have assayed. It is probable it may prove to be antimony.

There are some 400 persons out there prospecting for coal and minerals of various kinds. Evidently the parties from Portland did not find the main ledge, as it is situated in sections 34, 27 and 22, in township 4, 4 West, but is most prominent in the first two.

The parties out have joined together and opened the old state road from Quick's old sawmill to the mines and thence to the Nehalem river. R. C.

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. K. Gill returned on Wednesday from an extended Eastern trip.

Dr. A. J. Giesey is confined to his bed with an attack of remittent fever.

Mr. F. E. Hokgkin, who has been sick for two weeks, is now convalescent.

Wallace R. Struble, secretary of the state board of immigration, paid Salem a visit yesterday.

Ex-Governor Watson C. Squire, of Washington territory, has returned to Seattle from an extended Eastern visit.

Mrs. J. F. Watson and Miss Trevett were, at last accounts, in Grenada, Spain, admiring the beauties of the Alhambra. They expected to be in Paris on the 25th inst.

Judge J. H. Bird, Judge A. S. Bennett and Mr. Pierce Mays came down from Salem yesterday, where they have been attending supreme court. They are registered at the St. Charles.

Rev. Mr. Crawford, of the Michigan Methodist conference, is spending his furlough on this coast, accompanied by Rev. O. B. Whitmore. He paid a visit to Portland a few days ago.

Mr. Oscar Thayer, who went to Indianapolis a few weeks ago to be at the bedside of his dying father, returned yesterday. His return was delayed by an accident to his brother, Lieut. Arthur Thayer, U. S. A., occasioned by a fall from a cable car. His injuries are serious, but not fatal.

Manager J. P. Howe of the New Park returned yesterday from "east of the mountains," and will leave again to-day for Ellensburg, to join the Juvenile Opera Company. He reports big business at every point visited and better financial returns than from any other attraction he ever took over the interior circuit.

Sheriff J. N. Williamson of Crook county, who has been visiting his mother in Salem, has returned home. Mr. Williamson's term of office expires in July, but he has been nominated by the republicans of Crook county for representative, and, though Crook is of democratic proclivities, there is every prospect that he will be elected.

THE STAGE.

THE NEW PARK.—This evening will be presented Dion Boucicault's great Irish drama, "Arrah Na Pogue." Mr. James M. Ward and Carrie Clarke Ward, in their favorite characters of Shaun and Arrah. Shaun is one of Mr. Ward's greatest parts. On one occasion, in San Francisco, Mr. Boucicault was taken suddenly ill and Mr. Ward played the part for him, at a very short notice. So pleased was Mr. Boucicault with Ward's rendition of the part that he presented him with a gold watch and the right to the play. It will be produced with careful staging and a strong cast.

AUTOMATIC ENGINES.

TACOMA, W. T., Feb. 25, 1888.

Messrs. Russell & Co., Portland, Oregon—Gentlemen: We have been running the automatic engine bought of you for a week or more and so far we are much pleased with it. Our engineer says it is the best engine he ever run, and he has had extensive experience in building and running of engines. What he notices especially is its uniformity of action under varying load. He tested it with his speed indicator and found there was no change in the number of revolutions when the dynamo was plugged in or cut out.

Yours truly,

TACOMA LIGHT & WATER CO.
